Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve
Upon his Majesty's retirement from Westminster

John Wilson (1595-1674)
transcribed by R.H. Clark (b. 1944)

q = c. 52

Eikon Basilike (1648)
trans. Thomas Stanley in Psalterium Carolinum (1657)
Ode VI.
Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve

C Instr. I.

C Instr. II.

S. I

bids our wills thy will obey.
me with joy to entertain;

Yet

Ere

S. II

bids our wills thy will obey.
me with joy to entertain;

Yet

Ere

B.

bids our wills thy will obey.
me with joy to entertain;

Yet

Ere

Kbd.

B.C.
Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve

from our conscience that they never swerve, Whilst

from our conscience that they propose,
Whilst

from our conscience that they propose,
Whilst

from our conscience that they propose,
Whilst
Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve

C Instr. I.

C Instr. II.

S. I

men's decrees with law we weigh, And white-ness of my conscience stain: Just

S. II

men's decrees with law we weigh, And__
white-ness of my conscience stain: Just__

B.

men's decrees with law we weigh, And__
white-ness of my conscience stain: Just__

Kbd.

B.C.
Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve

C Instr. I.

C Instr. II.

S. I

Reason, nor of ought allow, But freedom let thy people have, Yet

S. II

Reason, nor of ought allow, But
freedom let thy people have, Yet

B.

Reason, nor of ought allow, But
freedom let thy people have, Yet

Kbd.

B.C.
Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve

C Instr. I.

C Instr. II.

S. I

that to which our judgments bow.
not my soul be made a slave.

S. II

that to which our judgments bow.
not my soul be made a slave.

B.

that to which our judgments bow.
not my soul be made a slave.

Kbd.

B.C.
Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve

C Instr. I.

C Instr. II.

S. I

Where hast fixed by thee I did reside, That

Thou hast disposed me to a throne, And

S. II

Where hast fixed by thee I did reside, That

Thou hast disposed me to a throne, And

B.

Where hast fixed by thee I did reside, That

Thou hast disposed me to a throne, And

Kbd.

B.C.
Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve

place by subjects forced I quitted, Yet
with a crown my temples deckéd: The

place by subjects forced I quitted, Yet
with a crown my temples deckéd: The

place by subjects forced I quitted, Yet
with a crown my temples deckéd: The

place by subjects forced I quitted, Yet
with a crown my temples deckéd: The
Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve

for their good my self denied, In To reason which from thee I own, To

for their good my self denied, In To
reason which from thee I own, To

for their good my self denied, In To
reason which from thee I own, To

for their good my self denied, In To
reason which from thee I own, To

for their good my self denied, In To
reason which from thee I own, To

Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve

all to my dispose submitted. Let others' passions not subjected. So no demands in tumults pressed, From shall my truth with thee comply, Though
1. my consent unjust power wrest.

2. my consent unjust power wrest.

3. my consent unjust power wrest.

4. my consent unjust power wrest.
them I cannot satisfy.

my consent unjust power wrest.
Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve

While I, by their injurious wrath, With
Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve

C Instr. I.

C Instr. II.

S. I

vi - o - lence am forced a - way; Guide

S. II

vi - o - lence am forced a - way; Guide

B.

Kbd.

B.C.
Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve

thou my steps, nor from the path

Of

thou my steps, nor from the path

Of

thou my steps, nor from the path

Of
Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve

truth and Justice let me stray. For truth and Justice let me stray. For truth and Justice let me stray. For

which my troubles now in - crease, But

which my troubles now in - crease, But

which my troubles now in - crease, But

which my troubles now in - crease, But

which my troubles now in - crease, But

which my troubles now in - crease, But
Ode VI. Our native freedom, Lord, preserve

they at last shall crown my peace.

they at last shall crown my peace.