

Blain Biographical Directory of Anglican clergy in the diocese of Honolulu 1862-1902

final edition (2012, corrected 2018)

The "Reformed Catholic Church of Hawai'i" began with the consecration of the first bishop of Honolulu, Thomas Nettleship STALEY in 1861. In 1872 the diocese became the "Anglican Church of Hawai'i", under his successor Alfred WILLIS the second and final bishop of Honolulu. On WILLIS's resignation in 1902, the see became the missionary district of Honolulu within the Episcopal Church of the United States of America, and in 1969 the diocese of Hawai'i.

This biographical directory lists some 58 clergy who passed through the diocese of Honolulu in the first forty years of Anglican church life. Few priests were in the diocese more than a year or two. Several lives are evasive shadows.

The Honolulu church initiative confronted a complex changing society in Hawai'i. Their royal patrons and the indigenous Polynesian people were pressed aside as the commercial interests of North American (and European) planters drove all before them. Their plantations were worked by imported Chinese and Japanese workers among whom the diocese did begin work. The inadequacies of diocesan leadership and the crippling lack of funding overwhelmed quixotic hopes, leaving a divided and worn Anglican remnant to be rescued by the Episcopal church of the USA in 1902.

While these entries were compiled from the best evidence available, the compiler had no access to primary documents in Honolulu. The full Blain Biographical Directory of Anglican Clergy in the South Pacific (which includes about 1,500 priests) may be found on the Project Canterbury website http://anglicanhistory.org/nz/blain_directory/. That directory was compiled without funding but with assistance from hundreds of correspondents and agencies from 1991. Bracketed numbers at the end of lines indicate the source of preceding information, explained at http://anglicanhistory.org/nz/blain_directory/bibliography.pdf

Sep 1886-1890 curate cathedral S Andrew and missionary to Chinese in Honolulu diocese Honolulu

1889 in response to call from the bishop for assistance in work among the Chinese labourers on sugar plantations, SPG through Prebendary HW TUCKER an old friend of WILLIS, had provided GOWEN who had learned Chinese; TUCKER now had grounds to question WILLIS' mental health and stability; WILLIS lost his case in the supreme court in Honolulu

22 Aug 1890 GOWEN accepts WILLIS' offer of leave on grounds of ill health

10 Nov 1890 submitted to BENSON archbishop of Canterbury his outline of recent differences with WILLIS

16 Nov 1890 WILLIS requires GOWENs immediate resignation

12 Dec 1890 Chinese residents petition TUCKER SPG noting ministry of GOWEN, WILLIS' refusal to permit GOWEN's return, and requesting SPG to reconcile the men and ensure return of GOWEN

1890-1891 the Revd JMW SILVER to BENSON, his four years of work among Chinese and Hawaiians, and that of other men from S Augustine's College Canterbury unrecognised by WILLIS; local opposition to WILLIS impedes fundraising

1890-1891 in correspondence with BENSON archbishop of Canterbury about the problems in the diocese of Honolulu, particularly with WILLIS who wanted to close down the Chinese missionary work and had refused to consider his proposal for a schoolroom for the Chinese congregation; the Chinese congregation dwindled; opinion offered that only BENSON by his office could remove WILLIS from his office (see p117, in 280)

07 Feb 1891 TUCKER regretted SPG unable to prevent imminent collapse of Anglican church in Hawai'i

12 Feb 1891 Theo DAVIES notes the same problems clustered around WILLIS: alienation of the clergy and the Sisters, quarrelled with all except the King and his political situation was weak, doubts WILLIS' sanity

09 Mar 1891 GOWEN unable to return despite SPG funding support: WILLIS would not license him and had seized his possession and home – in response WILLIS stated that the old Puritan hatred of bishops had wrecked the Anglican mission

06 Jun 1891 SIMEON instructed Robert GREGORY dean of S Pauls and chair London Hawaiian committee to oppose GOWEN

18 Jul 1891 Theo DAVIES offered GOWEN a post on Hawaii – but WILLIS would not of course allow it

31 Jul 1891 BENSON archbishop of Canterbury to WILLIS regretting the rumours and the proven facts; had urged GOWEN to accept chaplaincy on the plantations [with Theo DAVIES] and urged WILLIS to license him

17 Sep 1891 WILLIS undermined GOWEN's reputation, and challenged his linguistic competence to work with Chinese and refused ever to re-license him

Note on Chinese mission in the diocese Honolulu

1882 WILLIS had initiated mission work at Kohala, on the Niulii plantation, with leadership from Yap See YOUNG who had come as a youth to Hawai'i, and was employed by Theo. H DAVIES and Co. on the sugar plantations particularly around Paauilo and Hamakua districts, Hilo. DAVIES was keen to have clergy and lay ministry for spiritual welfare of workers. DAVIES regularly joined in the Lambeth correspondence, always critical of WILLIS.

18 Sep 1886 the Revd HFE WHALLEY asked GOWEN to pastor Chinese Christians who came to Honolulu from Kohala

1887 under GOWEN in Honolulu the first Anglican Chinese congregation began, with members from Kohala, Hongkong, and Demerara (Guiana), and Lutheran converts from the Basle and Berlin Missions in Canton [Guangdong] China.

[Note: 1920 some 150 Anglicans from the Chinese centre at S Peter living in Shanghai or China; students had gone on from Iolani College to College of S John Shanghai.]

ca Aug 1891 GOWEN granted leave of absence, on deputation work to England for SPG but did not return and he was dismissed by Bishop WILLIS for want of cooperation with him. (He had engaged in every kind of business according to 410) given permission to officiate from BENSON abp of Canterbury

Note: May 1894 to the secretary SPG London, Bishop WILLIS wrote of the difficulties with LEWIS, sent out by Mr WIGRAM of CMS for the wealthy sugar plantation owner, Theo DAVIES: 'having been ordained by Bishop CROWTHER of his earnestness there was no doubt. But he had had to put a strained interpretation on the Church's teaching on the subject of Baptism before he could take Holy orders in the church of England. He stood on the very edge of the Church's platform so that it is no matter of surprise to find him slipping off and I doubt if it will be possible to hold him back. He has now announced his conversion to the tenets of the Seventh Day Adventists and regards both Infant Baptism and the observance of Sunday as untenable. I am giving him time to reconsider these points before accepting his resignation. In neither of these matters will Mr DAVIES sympathize with him. But it is clear that the cause of his being so easily carried away by false opinion is that he never ex animo accepted the principles of the Church.' (micro-ms-coll-17-119 ATL)

but

05 May 1892 the bishop Alfred WILLIS complained (to BENSON archbishop of Canterbury) that the ordination was 'irregular', and that for financial reasons MACKINTOSH had held a government appointment and was not paid a stipend by the Church (280)

Explanatory note

In the Church of England a man was ordained to a parish position (known as a 'title parish') or to a college fellowship at Oxford or Cambridge, where he would be licensed by the bishop. In the diocese of Honolulu diocesan penury obliged WILLIS to ordain MACKINTOSH without such a title parish to which he could be licensed by the bishop and where he would serve under the bishop: his troubles with MACKINTOSH would appear to have aroused WILLIS in retrospect to argue that the priest had been ordained irregularly inasmuch as he was not ordained to a title parish.

Thus: in his powerless resentment of MACKINTOSH the bishop was passing back onto the priest (as if the ordinations were the priest's mistake) his own responsibility for having ordained him. Desperate. (MWB Jan 2008)

21 Apr 1893 members of the second (English-speaking) congregation of the cathedral S Andrew requested unconditional appointment of MACKINTOSH as dean

02 Jun 1893 WILLIS denounced MACKINTOSH for disloyalty and revoked his license as a diocesan priest

08 Jun 1893 MACKINTOSH appealed to BENSON abp of Canterbury, he had served 24 years as an SPG missionary and complained at the injustice done him by WILLIS (280)

29 Mar 1901 wrote to TEMPLE archbishop of Canterbury: outlined problems of his 25 years service, the embitterment of Anglican congregations and the prejudicing of the church work; suggested he be granted an honorary Lambeth degree [This honorary Lambeth degree was not granted but (Jul 1885) he had been made a Commander of the Royal Order of the Crown of Hawai'i, a rare title soon extinct on the elimination of the monarchy by the Americans]

1902 correspondence with bishops (including POTTER of New York) of the Episcopal church about problems with the end of the reign of WILLIS: (02 Feb 1902) three attended the bishop's liturgy at the cathedral, and a congregation of 400 was locked out by order of the bishop from their church; KITCAT was the bishop's agent, and the bishop was himself at that point the dean; the partly-built cathedral was consecrated but few attended in protest against the 'wicked' bishop WILLIS; the arrival of Bishop NICHOLS from ECUSA was eagerly awaited so that they might have a formal episcopal leadership provided by their new allegiance to the Episcopal Church of the United States (letters in diocesan archives New York)

Chronological notes

05 Dec 1859 on the orders of the King KAMEHAMEHA IV Robert WYLLIE himself a keen church member wrote to Manley HOPKINS the Hawai'ian consul general in London; who organised a 'Committee for Promoting the English Church in Hawai'i' The appointed committee (including Bishop WILBERFORCE, Archdeacon BICKERSTETH, Lord Robert CECIL MP, AJ Beresford HOPE, J Gellibrand HUBBARD MP, the Honourable Douglas GORDON and representatives of SPG and of SPCK) ruled in favour of the proposed episcopal mission, and sought a candidate for the new bishopric. (see Appendix of names)

1860 the King with encouragement of his wife Emma wrote to Queen VICTORIA to renew his appeal

With Horatio POTTER bishop of New York supporting KIP bishop of California brought the matter up with Samuel WILBERFORCE bishop of Oxford who was strongly supportive, and with AC TAIT bishop of London, who had his doubts but was carefully supportive once he recognised that this was on the specific invitation of the King of the Sandwich Islands.

Sep 1860 Rufus ANDERSON foreign secretary for the American 'Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions' of Hawai'i, outraged on recognising that not only R WYLLIE and Manley HOPKINS but the English committee promoting the bishopric were Ritualists, wrote in protest to England. TAIT of London replied, that all was being done on the explicit wish of the King KAMEHAMEHA IV

1861 at the English church convocation of Canterbury Samuel WILBERFORCE in promoting the cause, presented it as a royal initiative of Queen EMMA and her husband King KAMEHAMEHA IV: the king had donated a church site, and promised annual funding of £200 as well endowment land; Baroness BURDETT-COUTTS presented a cope and mitre for the use of STALEY on his consecration; which his son the Revd L S STALEY vicar of Tilmanstone co Kent gave for the use of the bishop of Derby [see The Times 04 Nov 1932]

*The Revd William DENTON (1815-1888), parish priest S Bartholomew Cripplegate London, recommended the appointment of STALEY as 1st bishop: appointment of a missionary bishop was deemed possible under the legal ruling delivered in support of the appointment of missionary bishops to territories outside the reach of British rule. Examples were MACKENZIE as a missionary bishop for Africa, and JC PATTESON as missionary bishop for Melanesia - but public objections were again raised to the appointment of a bishop for Honolulu and then specifically to STALEY:

*10 Nov 1861 STALEY not consecrated as announced, as his appointment lacked necessary legal status which would have been provided by a (British) Crown licence – which was ‘not available’

*11 Nov 1861 STALEY feeling hostility to his consecration wrote to TAIT bishop of London complaining he was ‘exceedingly disgusted with the animus and statements’ (280; The Times)

*11 Dec 1861 appointed bishop in the Sandwich islands under a licence signed by John 1st earl RUSSELL secretary of state for Foreign Affairs (Foreign office lists)

1862-1871 The diocese was legally incorporated as ‘the Hawai’ian Reformed Catholic Church’

1864 invited three Sisters of the Society of the Most Holy Trinity [Ascot and Devonport] to open girls’ school Lahaina Hawai’i

15 Sep 1864 the Revd John KEBLE preached at the farewell service at Hursley for these three Sisters and:

c1867 in Honolulu arrived Mother Lydia SELLON with three more Sisters at urgent request of STALEY, welcomed by Queen EMMA (372)

c1864 the American Minister James McBRIDGE regarded the government of King KAMEHAMEHA V as anti-American, and opposed the two ‘English parasites’ STALEY and William Webb F SYNGE the British Commissioner

07 May 1865 letter of introduction and commendation for the Revd W Hoapili KAAUWAI, friend and companion of the late King KAMEHAMEHA IV whom he aided in translating the Book of Common Prayer into Hawai’ian tongue (280)

1865 to get support from the Episcopal church, STALEY visited Philadelphia for the general convention of the Episcopal church of the USA (which for the first time since the USA civil war, the southern bishops attended), participated in consecrating two missionary bishops, secured grants towards the stipends of two priests (GB WHIPPLE, Edward WARREN) and a pledge from the house of bishops to ‘aid the word of planting the Church in the Sandwich Islands by every means in their power’ (405); rejected criticism that the diocese was a British imperial mission. However, according to RESTARICK, the two clergy who responded to this call were GALLAGHER and WHIPPLE – he does not mention E WARREN; yet IBBOTSON reported in Mission Life (Oct 1866), that a third priest R B POST had come, as warden to the College of S Alban. (410)

29 Sep 1866 STALEY wrote to Bishop TAIT of London: disappointed at low level of English support for the Honolulu mission (280)

05 (or 08 according to cornerstone inscription) Mar 1867 the new king KAMEHAMEHA V (brother to late King KAMEHAMEHA IV) laid foundation-stone cathedral church S Andrew Honolulu, on land given by the late King KAMEHAMEHA IV king of Hawai'i http://anglicanhistory.org/hawaii/cathedral_cornerstone1867.html

n d privy councillor of king of Hawai'i

n d a founder of Royal museum Honolulu

1868 or 1869 after the Lambeth Conference at the request of the bishop of London and of SPG:

22 May 1869 reported to TAIT archbishop of Canterbury: approaching his retirement from the see; need for successor from England not USA, noted the schism caused by his dean

22 Jun 1869 from Buenos Aires to TAIT: STALEY visiting South America to commend work of Anglican chaplains held confirmations among the consular chaplaincies in South America outside British territory on the East and West coasts of South America: 'during his absence the diocese had become disorganized, and following the example of several of his clergy he retired in 1870' (405), leaving only two clergy in diocesan positions (410)

Certainly, in perpetual distress STALEY was away about two years, and returned Honolulu only to resign.

14 Dec 1869 to TAIT: ECUSA influence growing stronger and wealthier than the poverty of the Anglican mission, suggests withdrawal in favour of the Americans, to correspond with STALEY's retirement (280)

22 Mar 1870 John JACKSON (vice TAIT) bishop of London to TAIT (vice LONGLEY) now archbishop of Canterbury: native congregations supported by Queen EMMA favour ritualism but the (mixed traditions, particularly Congregationalist) Europeans do not; JACKSON wrote again that the diocese needed reconstruction when STALEY had gone; Samuel WILBERFORCE noted that STALEY received the see from the King of Hawai'i and STALEY must resign only to the King and not to the archbishop of Canterbury nor to the British monarch (280)

02 Jun 1870 STALEY departed from Hawai'i, leaving the diocese of Honolulu without a bishop until the arrival of Alfred WILLIS 30 Jun 1872; however

28 Jul 1871-01 Aug 1871 Samuel Tarratt NEVILL bishop of Dunedin New Zealand visited Honolulu (406)

ca Jul 1870 STALEY asked the bishop of California to procure the consecration of a specified American priest (not named) as bishop for Honolulu

30 Jul 1870 Bishop JACKSON of London to TAIT (formerly bishop of London and now archbishop of Canterbury): STALEY's fault was 'untruthfulness and slipperiness' in money matters; and he should resign; the people did not want a Ritualist

06 Aug 1870 STALEY from Pall Mall London to TAIT: he could now retire honourably; he later wrote that his successor should be 'a moderate man, leaning to the Catholic rather than to the Protestant side, a man of sense and fortune'

Comment: his eventual successor in the see was Alfred WILLIS: temperamentally not a moderate man, leaned very fully to the Catholic side, not a man of sense, but of some fortune] (280)

ca Aug 1870 resigned see of Honolulu ipso facto but had not signed the papers until probably Sep 1870

29 Oct 1870 STALEY in London to TAIT: peculiarity of his position 'as being not a Colonial Bishop but under the Foreign Office' [ie appointed by the king of Hawai'i under negotiations with the Foreign office] (280)

08 Aug 1870 resignation from the see received by Foreign office London (foreign office lists)

28 Jan 1871 King KAMEHAMEHA V to TAIT: expressed goodwill towards Hawai'ian mission, wished TAIT to nominate and consecrate a new bishop, undertook to secure adequate financial support (280)

14 Feb 1871 STALEY in Kensington London wrote to TAIT: endorsed his (and Samuel WILBERFORCE's) proposal to replace him as bishop of Honolulu with Henry Benjamin WHIPPLE bishop of Minnesota (in the ECUSA); he now wished to begin work again, but in England (280) [WHIPPLE declined appointment to the see of Honolulu]

13 Jun 1871 in London: wrote to AC TAIT now archbishop of Canterbury: forwarded five documents to assist TAIT to decide whether to appoint him to the see of Colombo Ceylon [Sri Lanka] (280)

19 Jun 1871 in Phillimore Place London W: STALEY wrote to TAIT, denied his episcopate a failure; traced problems to his absence from the diocese in 1868 for purpose of fundraising; accused the Honourable the Revd CA HERVEY of undermining his authority; however HM Representative in Honolulu testified to STALEY's qualities and forbearance while in office and since, and to his difficulties counteracting the 'army' of American Congregationalists (280)

11 Aug 1871 The Revd W T BULLOCK organizing secretary for SPG London: Alfred WILLIS had declined the bishopric, and he now suggested advantages of selecting an American priest to 'conciliate the American Episcopal Church' (280)

27 Sep 1871 Alfred WILLIS now accepted appointment to the see of Honolulu (280)

1872 STALEY now rector Oakley and vicar Croxall co Staffordshire diocese Southwell

17 Jan 1872 TAIT to STALEY: trusted he was now reassured about charges brought against him; TAIT understood the

Honolulu mission committee considered the matter ended (280)

05 Apr 1873 claimed entitlement of £200 from SPCK granted but not drawn upon in his time as bishop of Honolulu: but time had lapsed and SPCK would not pay up – the correspondence continued and arguments were sustained (280)

1881 with wife, Edith Frances STALEY daughter aged 28 born Wandsworth, Leonard Sewallis STALEY son aged 23 no occupation [but later a priest] born Wandsworth, eight boarders (including Stephen LUSHINGTON 17 born Calcutta), three servants, residing Croxall vicarage (8; The Times)

(c1864) the collision of STALEY and his ministry with the Hawai'ian Evangelical Association (Presbyterian/Congregationalist) and the Roman Catholics and to a lesser extent the Mormons reached its peak and never really subsided. The Anglican king's promotion of dancing and traditional customs outraged them all except STALEY who welcomed indigenisation.

The appointed committee included Bishop Samuel WILBERFORCE, Archdeacon BICKERSTETH, Lord Robert CECIL MP, AJ Beresford HOPE, J Gellibrand HUBBARD MP, the Honourable Douglas GORDON and representatives of SPG and of SPCK, and through the agency of SPG they sought a candidate for the new bishopric; 1862-1871 The diocese was legally incorporated as 'the Hawai'ian Reformed Catholic Church' and featured in his Hawai'i: the Past, Present, and Future of its Island Kingdom (1862) by Manley HOPKINS as the committee leader. King KAMEHAMEHA IV (1834-1863) né Alexander 'Iolani Liholiho Keawenui; (1850) met Prince ALBERT consort of Queen VICTORIA and other nobles and royals; (11 Jan 1855-30 Nov 1863) fourth king of Hawaii; (1856) married Emma ROOKE, queen consort; (1858) he and Queen EMMA headed a subscription list to pay for an Anglican priest to establish and conduct services for an Anglican church in Honolulu. The monarchs wanted to establish an 'Hawai'i Reformed Catholic Church'. The mission was intended to have support from the Anglican church in the republican USA as well as in royalist England; he wanted a monarchical church to reinforce his own monarchical line, conscious that the dominant churches in his kingdom were the American Congregationalist/Presbyterians, and the Roman Catholic while the Mormons also were significant. Although there is no evidence of a British imperial interest in the promotion of the Anglican mission, the American Congregationalists were clear that they would tolerate only an Anglican chaplaincy with a party-line Evangelical chaplain. The protest was loud and clear at the news of a bishopric and of a bishop likely to come; (1860) the King with his wife EMMA wrote to Queen VICTORIA to renew his appeal for clergy; the royal family was baptised on the arrival of STALEY the bishop, with Queen VICTORIA godmother (by proxy) to the Prince Albert Edward; (1862) he translated into the Hawai'ian language the Book of Common Prayer and hymns – 'the transcendental ideas of the Athanasian Creed [he] could not surmount ... no corresponding expressions for them' in his language (16 Feb 1864 The Times); (27 Aug 1862) their only child Prince Albert Edward Kauikeaouli died; (28 Nov 1862) STALEY administered the sacrament of Confirmation to King KAMEHAMEHA IV; (Dec 1863) bishop STALEY took his funeral aged nearly 30; (28 Nov annually) with Queen EMMA honoured with a liturgical observance 'Feast of the Holy Sovereigns' in the calendar of the Episcopal church of the USA

RISING, the Revd Franklin Samuel, secretary of the Church Missionary Society CMS in America, author of Are there Romanizing Germs in the Prayer Book? (1868); (1873) member of the schismatic Reformed Episcopal church, he particularly attacked STALEY and the Anglican mission, and in doing so encouraged a vicious attack by an American journalist known as Mark TWAIN on the royal family's (and STALEY's) church;

TAIT, Archibald Campbell (1811-1882) as bishop of London he had Anglican jurisdiction in areas without an Anglican diocese such as Hawai'i; the bishop of Oxford allayed his fears about the Honolulu mission, explaining it was an initiative of the king of the Sandwich islands (Hawai'i).

see <http://anglicanhistory.org/england/actait/>

TWAIN, Mark (1835-1910), a journalist and novelist from the USA; after his several months in Hawai'i TWAIN wrote (July 1866) that he was an 'old friend' of the Revd Franklin Samuel RISING 'of Virginia City', described the Anglican diocese of Honolulu as 'a pinchbeck thing, an imitation, a bauble, an empty show. It had no power, no value for a king. It could not harry or burn or slay... It was an Established Church without an Establishment; all the people were Dissenters'. TWAIN attacked STALEY in a newspaper article: STALEY 'has shown the temerity of an incautious and inexperienced judgement, rushing in here fresh from the heart and home of a high civilisation and throwing down the gauntlet of defiance before a band of stern, tenacious, unyielding, tireless, industrious, devoted old Puritan knights who had seen forty years of missionary service.' (Jul 1866) TWAIN wrote that he himself was choir leader in RISING's informal service on board the ship sailing from Honolulu to San Francisco

WHIPPLE, Henry Benjamin (1822-1901), bishop of Minnesota; (c1869) declined the suggestion from STALEY that he succeed him in the see of Honolulu; (14 Feb 1871) STALEY in Kensington London wrote to TAIT: endorsed his (and Samuel WILBERFORCE's) proposal to replace himself as bishop of Honolulu with Henry Benjamin WHIPPLE bishop of Minnesota; WHIPPLE declined appointment;

see <http://anglicanhistory.org/usa/whipple/>

WILBERFORCE, Samuel (1805-1873), bishop of Oxford, bishop of Winchester; the bishop of Oxford was strongly supportive of the missionary initiative, and worked with AC TAIT bishop of London, who doubted yet was carefully supportive once he recognised that this invitation was from the king of the Sandwich Islands. (1861) at the English church convocation of Canterbury WILBERFORCE presented the cause as a royal initiative of Queen EMMA and her husband King KAMEHAMEHA IV: the king had donated a church site, and promised annual funding of £200 as well as endowment land. In his preface to Hawaii: the past present and future of its island Kingdom (1862) he wrote: 'Our relation, too, to New Zealand adds greatly to the interest of this undertaking. From the New Zealand church, our own Bishop Patteson – clarum et venerabile nomen – is making his way of blessing northward through the Melanesian group. Southward, on his way of benediction, may the Bishop of Honolulu speed, until the two advancing currents of the living waters of the living Gospel of our Lord knit in one long grasp the hands of the two Island-Prelates; and they kneel together on the shore of some jointly conquered island, to exclaim in grateful adoration, This hath God done!' When in his turn he wanted to extend his episcopal authority beyond the Sandwich islands in 'one long grasp' to Tonga and Samoa, the 2nd bishop of Honolulu WILLIS took this approach and on losing his see of Honolulu went to Tonga.

see <http://anglicanhistory.org/england/swilberforce/index.html>

WYLLIE, Robert Crichton (1798-1865), an Episcopalian from Scotland, in London banking with a member of the Anglican family LYALL; (1844-death) in Hawai'i; 1845 by King KAMEHAMEHA III of Sandwich Islands appointed minister of foreign relations at Honolulu, (1859) on the orders of the King KAMEHAMEHA IV instructed Manley HOPKINS consul for Hawai'i in London to send a priest to Honolulu; (11 Oct 1862) received STALEY 1st bishop of Honolulu and his party to Hawai'i; (28 Nov 1862) STALEY administered the sacrament of Confirmation to the Queen EMMA, King KAMEHAMEHA IV, R C WYLLIE, Justice Minister George M ROBERTSON, and the Attorney General C C HARRIS. Those with STALEY were keen to develop the English Establishment links of the Anglican mission, wishing to restrain USA influence and the likelihood of American annexation of the kingdom of the Sandwich islands [Hawai'i], and to encourage the royalist traditions. STALEY considered himself not an agent of the English system, resented attacks from the Congregationalist/Presbyterian people in Honolulu as a British imperialist agent.
