This is a voluntary database established by the Reverend Michael Blain in 1991. From 1991 to 2021, Michael was responsible for compiling entries of clergy ordained before 1932. He has been assisted by hundreds of correspondents and agencies over thirty years. He was greatly assisted by Christine Hickton with genealogical details. Christine continues to research. The Reverend Robert Bruère began assisting during Covid-2019. His early additions are indicated (424).

In 2022 Robert took over managing the directory, adding people ordained from 1932 to 1950. Work continues adding people ordained in the early 1950’s and enhancing earlier entries. He thanks Christine and Johnann Williams for their assistance and others who have contributed. There are now 2342 entries for everyone ordained in the province before 1951 who have held a bishop’s licence in NZ. All ordained elsewhere before 1951 who have come before 1999 to serve in New Zealand are included, plus some of special interest.

Information and enquiries can be sent to robertabruere55@gmail.com
Bracketed numbers at the end of lines indicate the range of sources, explained at http://anglicanhistory.org/nz/blain_directory/bibliography.pdf

The first Anglican priest appointed in the South Pacific was the Reverend Richard JOHNSON. He came in 1788 from England as chaplain to the settlement and penal colony of New South Wales. His assistant and then successor, the Reverend Samuel MARSDEN, was responsible for establishing a Church Missionary Society settlement in New Zealand in 1814 with the support of Māori rangatira (chief), Ruatara. Initially clergy outside Britain were the responsibility of the Bishop of London which explains many being ordained by him. In 1825 Archdeacon SCOTT was responsible for establishing a metropolitan church in Aotearoa New Zealand. In 1829, the diocese in Polynesia was part of Bishop SELWYN’s charge.

In 1975 the diocese of Melanesia became an independent province.

The Church Missionary Society missionary did not go to the territory of the LMS (London Missionary Society) in the Pacific. With the arrival of Indians and Melanesians to work in the Fijian sugar plantations, their governor requested Anglican ministry to them and hence began the ministry of Archdeacon FLOYD. The diocese in Polynesia later became part of the Church in Aotearoa New Zealand.

A project to record all clergy ordained before 31 Dec 1961 in Australia, when it became autocephalous (had its own head), was begun by Dr Kenneth John Cable (1929-2003), then assisted by the Revd Noel Pollard (1929-1999) and Ken’s wife Leonie Cable. Michael Blain helped greatly by transcribing their card system to a word document. Leonie continues to expand Cable Clerical Index.

There is considerable and enjoyable collaboration across “The Ditch” (Tasman Sea).

FURTHER NOTE ON SOURCES

Some information comes from family trees and other material now posted on the internet which wasn’t the case when this data base was begun. Where there are major references to a source - it is quoted. Where there is a variance with source such as New Zealand Births, Deaths and Marriages or findagrace it is noted. Births, Deaths and Marriages have been very good in checking if there has been a transcription error, but they are required to retain the original record, where a mistake may have been made.

New Zealand Clerical directories are now available on the Kinder Library website - direct link https://putake.recollect.co.nz/nodes/search?datefrom=&dateto=&keywords=Clergy&orderby=relevance&order=desc&ntids=W10=&filter=eyJvY29kcyI6W10sImlsZmVuY3J5cHRlZS1jYW4iW10sImlsZmVuY3J5cHRlZS10b2tlbl90aW1lIjp7fX0=&a2z=W10=&page=3&viewtype=grid&type=all&digital=0&in=0&access=0&tax=eyJvY29kcyI6W10sInZhbHVlXjpvXX0=&has=W10=&bid=0&meta=W10=&metainc=W10=

Note: the revd James Craigie ROBERTSON was chaplain (1845-1848) to the Duke of BUCCLEUCH at Dalkeith, and from 1846 was vicar Bekesbourne Kent where John Collins ALLEN was curate from 1841. The Duke of BUCCLEUCH was a member of the Canterbury Association and a supporter of Ritualists. There may well be a link between these people, certainly sufficient for ALLEN to take a financial interest in Canterbury. (316;311)
Note: *Sir Thomas TANCRED (born 16 Aug 1808 died Oct 1880 Napier) 7th baronet had poor sight and peculiar habits; mistaking a sunflower at the window for a man looking in, he fired a gun at it. [Note on Tabernacles]
Dec 1932 in Auckland SOUTHERN CROSS V sold; the altar and reredos were installed in the new MY SOUTHERN CROSS VI which was then lost on its maiden voyage; chapel oak timbers and other items were saved for S Thomas Freemans Bay: Archdeacon SIMKIN refused the necessary faculty for installation of anything until the clergy ALLERTON and VOKES had been paid their stipends.
21 May 1934 at the invitation of Fr ALLERTON and with the agreement of AVERILL bishop of Auckland, WH BADDELEY bishop of Melanesia in Auckland for the general synod, dedicated new Lady chapel S Thomas Freemans Bay – including the oak altar, a tabernacle, sanctuary lamp, and sacring bell. On learning of all these further installations, all now successfully included under that dedication but without the individual formal approval of the bishop’s faculty, AVERILL tried to forbid the use of the tabernacle and the bell; AVERILL inhibited all priests from saying mass at S Thomas and the parish priest Fr ALLERTON from saying mass at any altar but that in S Thomas until the tabernacle was removed from its normal place on the altar to become an aumbry in the north-wall of the chapel. The ban on Fr ALLERTON was subsequently lifted on this being done. (website S Matthew Auckland accessed Mar 2009)
For a minor but similar incident, see the entries for WARREN, ALWYN KEITH, and GAULT, CECIL.
c1976 a tabernacle was installed in the south wall of the sanctuary of S Barnabas Roseneath Wellington; the bishop of Wellington EK NORMAN allowed the tabernacle to remain (and with a faculty) only on condition that I did not have it set upon the altar. The British High Commissioner Sir Richard STRATTON expressed to the bishop his surprise at this restriction, for he had never worshipped in London at a church which did not have the tabernacle on the high altar. He specifically referred to his London parish church S Augustine Queen’s Gate (MWB))

Appointment of successor to MOLYNEUX:
Apr 1932 A E CORNER general secretary (English) Melanesian Mission informed Cosmo Gordon LANG abp of Canterbury that his English committee wanted BADDELEY to succeed MOLYNEUX (should the mission staff fail to elect one of themselves), though he was aware the New Zealand bishops might be annoyed at such an intrusive action by Canterbury
03 May 1932 LANG wrote to AVERILL abp of New Zealand to recommend BADDELEY, excusing his intrusion by noting the ‘effects of the shock’ surrounding MOLYNEUX’s resignation; LANG commended BADDELEY’s war record and his work in Yorkshire - BADDELEY reported to LANG that he had earlier declined the invitation from MOLYNEUX to be his assistant bishop but was willing to go as bishop now, and confidentially he had been informed of the cause of the present vacancy (280)
May 1932 NC CHRISTOPHERSON (AngloCatholic) archdeacon of Colombo nominated in Melanesia by a group of English clergy to be bishop of Melanesia, but vetoed in New Zealand - possibly the New Zealand leadership feared prejudice against perceived AngloCatholics would limit the generosity of New Zealand fund-providers for the Melanesian Mission; FOX was asked if he would like to be the bishop but declined:
06 Jul 1932 at the provincial synod by the New Zealand bishops and with representatives of the diocese of Melanesia, appointed bishop of Melanesia (vice MOLYNEUX ‘nervous breakdown’); and came out to be consecrated in New Zealand not England in accordance with the firmly-expressed preference of the New Zealand bishops (280;69])
11 Jul 1932 news from Wellington, conference of bishops and Melanesian representatives chosen him as successor to the Right Revd FM MOLYNEUX who had a nervous breakdown in December

early 1934 baptised 171 at WIEDEMANN’s mission Kauptimete (a group of four islands); the bishop negotiated with the colonial administration for new sites for the Mission to evangelise, particularly Passage Man-o-War [Passis Manua]; FR BISHOP was commended at Rabaul for work among Europeans, the layman WGG WIEDEMANN at Kauptimete; BRADLEY the chaplain at Wau returning to Australia; he wanted priests for Salamau and Lae for ministry among whites; development of the Mandated Territory would certainly need its own diocesan bishop and structure, but pro tempore he appointed De VOIL as ‘archdeacon for New Britain and the Goldfields’ or ‘for the archdeaconry of Northern Melanesia’; the money was available for a new schooner (CECIL WILSON) but the Australian church had shown its inability to finance a bishopric or proper mission in the Mandated Territory; V SHERWIN was due back from leave and with him coming one recruit from England KP FitzGERALD; with the Revd H THOMPSON soon to arrive from the diocese New Guinea and a Mr McLEOD (who had training at Maravo and Maka Solomon Islands) from Rabaul, returned via Salamoa to Tulagi [colonial administration headquarters] in the Solomon Islands (261;412)(261)

Apr 1934 attended general synod Napier New Zealand: the Finance board of the Melanesian Mission (set up in 1925) was now dissolved and the headquarters of the Melanesian Mission was shifted from Auckland to Sydney; C Coleridge HARPER attended from England, representing the Melanesian Mission and introduced the topic for the members; the synod approved the definition of ‘associated missionary diocese’ for Melanesia

21 May 1934 at the request of the Revd Arthur Russell ALLERTON vicar and with agreement of AVERILL bishop of Auckland he dedicated the renewed Lady chapel of S Thomas Freemans Bay Auckland, with its enhancements from the local sale of the MY SOUTHERN CROSS V; on learning that this dedication had included a tabernacle on the new oak altar, a sanctuary lamp, and a sacring bell, the archbishop put Fr ALLERTON under the ban and he was unable to say mass other than at S Thomas (and no other priest could say mass at S Thomas) until the tabernacle was moved into the north wall of the chapel as an aumbry and he undertook not to use the sacring bell (website S Matthew Auckland Mar 2009; see also WARREN, Alwyn Keith for a parallel tale)

(03 Jun 1934) Brisbane Sunday Mail: to travel from Sydney to Norfolk Island, to the New Hebrides to join the new mission steamer SOUTHERN CROSS, and to visit Banks and Torres Islands before proceeding to the Solomons

1934 returned to the Solomons via Norfolk Island: it would be better ‘in another diocese’ i.e. Sydney rather than Melanesia (261) Jul 1934 p9 reported in the bishop’s annual report (covering 1933-1934); he had constituted a new archdeaconry for Southern Melanesia, and ‘in due course’ was constituting a new archdeaconry of Northern Melanesia (261)

Aug 1934 visited San Cristoval and the Revd R De VOIL late 1934 or early 1935: on MY SOUTHERN CROSS VII 2nd pastoral visit to Mandated Territories, R De VOIL installed as [first and last] archdeacon of Northern Melanesia; D Lloyd FRANCIS stationed Ogum, SHERWIN stationed Wau early 1935 at Rabaul New Britain with confirmations at Kumbun and SagSag on New Britain, and services at Lae and confirmation at Wau (goldmining district in Morobe province) on New Guinea mainland (403) http://Anglicanhistory.org/oceania/baddeley_report1936.html

New Zealand General Synod and Melanesia

1. That in the opinion of this synod the work on the mainland of New Guinea, including the Chaplaincy to the Goldfields, is the responsibility and should be accepted by the New Guinea Mission.

2. That so far as this synod has power to do so, it approves of the action of the Melanesian Mission in pressing on with the work in the islands of the Mandated Territory and records its appreciation of the efforts made by the bishop and those working with him – these amounted to instructions to leave mainland New Guinea (SHERWIN and goldfields Wau) to the diocese of New Guinea, while supporting ministry in New Britain. This synod approved the formal transfer of Norfolk Island parish from the diocese of Melanesia to the diocese of Sydney NSW Australia

Note on the transfer of jurisdiction of Norfolk Island to Sydney

05 Aug 1938 in Sydney, NSW: episcopal jurisdiction over Norfolk Island was assigned (in 1836) to the bishop of Australia, and (1841) to the bishop of New Zealand, and shortly afterwards to the bishop of Tasmania, reverting (1855) to the bishop of New Zealand and subsequently exercised by the bishop of Melanesia; (1937) the general synod of the province of New Zealand authorised the primacy of New Zealand to take the necessary steps for the transfer of the ecclesiastical control of Norfolk Island (then in the diocese of Melanesia) to the diocese of Sydney: the Melanesian Mission trust board was authorised to transfer the properties belonging to the Mission in Norfolk Island to the diocese of Sydney; on his own behalf and his successors as bishops of Melanesia BADDELEY as bishop agreed for this surrender to Howard MOWLL the archbishop of Sydney; MOWLL (‘Howard Sydney’) as archbishop of Sydney and BADDELEY (+ Walter Melanesia’) as bishop of Melanesia signed the document, (witnesses R R ROBINSON and Alfred PEEL) and it was registered by S JOHNSTONE as the Sydney diocesan registrar

(Curious note: Henry PHILLPOTTS the long-time bishop of Exeter (from 1830 to 1869) was aged 90 and near death and not able to manage an ordination and would have sought another ordaining bishop for this ordination; Aubrey George SPENCER was in office as bishop of Jamaica but in poor health retired from his post in 1855 to healthy Torquay in the diocese of Exeter; he did on occasion assist the frail bishop of Exeter. I also note that Reginald COURTENAY of the Exeter COURTENAY family had been bishop-choadjutor of Jamaica from 1856 and diocesan bishop only from the death of SPENCER on 24 Feb 1872. Thus, although COURTENAY did the work in Jamaica, SPENCER was the bishop of Jamaica until his death. (MWB])

Other
1880 8th general synod Christchurch declined a request for a bishop for Māori
1925 the North Island bishops refused to consecrate a Māori bishop for the newly legislated ‘diocese of Aotearoa’.
1928 he was consecrated as the first Māori bishop, but under a compromise whereby he was not a diocesan bishop in status but made a suffragan (assistant) bishop to the bishop of Waiapū. [This is readily recognisable as a racist or anti-Māori compromise, but the decision also embodies the principle that there can be only one episcopal jurisdiction in any region.]

1883-1889 vicar Christ Church Lichfield
22 Aug 1885 with the Revd George Edward MASON arrived in Auckland on AUSTRALIA, for missions in the dioceses Auckland, Christchurch, Dunedin; they were invited by the primates HIC HARPER and COWIE bishop of Auckland to New Zealand.
Archdeacon George MAUNSSELL, a leading Orange lodge member, attacked them and their work in long anonymous letters published in the New Zealand Herald. This soured their five months in Auckland diocese; but did not hinder their diocesan-wide work in Christchurch diocese.

HARPER summed up that the strongest result from their missions was the encouragement to the local clergy. (See BODINGTON’s scrapbook of the New Zealand missions, fMS-020 ATL)

24 May 1864 full report of case in Chancery court: Sir Thomas MOSTYN of Mostyn Hall Flintshire and other properties left his estate to his niece’s husband Sir Edward Pryce LLOYD (1768-1854) of Pengwern Flintshire, (1831) 1st Baron MOSTYN. But when he died in 1831 the debts were heavy and the property not able to meet the financial commitments of the will; his natural daughter was Eliza MOSTYN, and on her marriage or attaining her majority (21) she was to have received £20 000 from the estate.
However on her marriage to Charles Clement BROOKE in Jun 1840, the money was not there for her to receive it from Baron MOSTYN the successor to her natural father Sir Thomas MOSTYN.
The only son of her marriage to BROOKE was Charles Hyde BROOKE: agreements were made in his infancy so that he would on the death of her father Sir Thomas MOSTYN he was himself to inherit his mother’s legacy. However, at her death in 1845 Edward Pryce LLOYD 1st Baron MOSTYN and his relatives declared that no money was available to meet these commitments to him Charles Hyde BROOKE. Charles Hyde BROOKE began proceedings against Edward, 2nd Baron MOSTYN and his eldest son Thomas MOSTYN (1830-1861). Judgement went against Charles Hyde BROOKE not because the claim was unjust but because the funds were not there to fulfill its conditions. 22 Nov 1864 BROOKE appealed the decision which had rejected his claim, arguing that the late Edward (ne Pryce LLOYD) Baron MOSTYN and his son Thomas MOSTYN had concealed the evidence and withheld documents. The judge agreed that might well be so, but nevertheless the funds were lacking with which to pay Charles Hyde BROOKE. (411) spines tight, pages unmarked. His sermons also held at The Elms do not illustrate any response to context nor to Māori culture’ 31/07/01

26 May 1839 priest London ‘for the cure of souls in Her Majesty foreign possessions (cathedral S Paul) (6;50)

Note: New Zealand was not a British colony in 1838 and 1839; while his ordination ‘for the cure of souls in Her Majesty’s foreign possessions’ was canonically regular, his appointment to New Zealand on the strength of this ordination’s description was irregular for New Zealand was not a possession of Her Majesty. His appointment to the cure of souls in New Zealand was in effect made regular only when Britain assumed sovereignty in New Zealand with the treaty of Waitangi in 1840. This detail around the authorisation of his ordination raises the question of British attitudes to New Zealand territory before 1840 and to the imperial annexation of New Zealand. (MWB and 111)

Jan 1910 with strong commendations from the bishops of London (Arthur WINNINGTON-INGRAM) and of Colchester (Robert Henry WHITCOMBE) BURTON was nominated as their rector by the parish of S James King Street Sydney (vice CARR-SMITH); the Sydney diocesan nominees consulted Eugene STOCK also in London, the historian of CMS and specifically of the New Zealand Church Missionary Association, who advised them that he was an extreme Ritualist (= mass vestments and incense) – which brought unanimous rejection of him by the Sydney nominees. However it was public knowledge that the parish of Christchurch S Michael was then under offer to BURTON (BURTON had raised £40 000 for the parish during his years as priest S Saviour; vice BURTON the Revd Leonard Sedgwick WESTALL vicar of Thaxted Essex appointed vicar S Saviour (411))

See article ‘Cast Away’ in Harper’s New Monthly Magazine, 1866 pp724-732 : which claims that for a little over two years this English clergyman had been living alone on a plot of Māori land called Opiipito, near the Bay of Islands, trying to establish church and community links with local Māori;

19 Aug 1859 he went fishing off Cape Brett; near the Black Rocks his main mast broke and he was blown away and then marooned on one of three small uninhabited islands for five months and ten days. For some of the time a Māori, named MONGANUI was with him; he was picked up by two English sailors on a passing schooner and returned to the pier at the Bay of Islands whence he had embarked.

1862 author of article From the Black Rocks on Friday in Charles DICKENS’ weekly All the Year Round. (pers comm May 2013, researcher Catharine Ferguson of Kerikeri)

Further puzzle:

11 Jun 1893 according to one who attended, CARTER was a speaker at the annual commemoration day for the Melanesian Mission at Eton college, preacher Bishop Churchill JULIUS, luncheon hosts Bishop JR SELWYN and his wife – other speakers Dr HORNBY provost of Eton, the Revd John STILL, the Revd D RUDDOCK, the Revd LP ROBIN; CARTER was introduced as the last of the clergy who were with GA SELWYN when bishop of New Zealand (28 Jul 1893 Nelson Evening Mail) – Christine Hickton and Michael Blain wish this to be recorded here but are not satisfied that it is a sound report

This was known as the Albany Case: 10 Dec 1898 WILSON left Ipswich with crippled son Claude age 11, in a horse-drawn cart; on seeing a youth on a horse nearby in the bush Wilson went into the bush, and after a time, Claude heard a shot - which his father said was him shooting a hawk. However he later passed something to a swagman probably the gun; Edward Wilson was arrested Albany Western Australia 10 Jan 1899 aboard SS YARRAWONGA bound for South Africa. Denied knowledge and Crown did not proceed against him. Argued: gun had been used by that swagman but that man was not found nor charged.

Lest CASTLE’s time in the short-lived archdeaconry of Northern Melanesia (in the diocese of Melanesia, province of New Zealand) be lost from sight he is included here.

Ordained after 1930 he is included in the BlairBiographical Directory as he was serving in the diocese of Melanesia before the Second World War. After the Second World War the so-called Mandated Territory (part of the German empire until World War 1) became part of the Australian Anglican church. From that date thus re-defined the diocese of Papua New Guinea became an affiliated diocese in the province of Queensland Australia. Before that date CASTLE had departed the Mandated Territory and in consequence CASTLE has no place in the Cable Clerical Index of priests in the Australian church. (MWB)

08 Aug 1933 ordained bishop by Bishop Daniel Cassell HINTON of the ‘American Catholic Church’ as bishop for the diocese of the Pacific in the ‘Liberal Catholic Church of Antioch’

Note on this episcopal ordination

The various little churches in these ecclesial associations made much of the legitimacy of the apostolic succession of their orders. This episcopal ordination was seen to be in the Syrian succession of apostolic orders through Joseph René VILATTE self-styled archbishop of the ‘Old Catholic Church of North America’, who had been consecrated 29 Mar 1892 in Colombo Ceylon by Archbishop ALVAREZ a prelate of a splinter group of the South Indian Syrian Orthodox tradition.

VILATTE ordained indiscriminately maybe as many as twenty bishops including (19 Dec 1915) a former Episcopal priest Frederick Ebenezer
LLOYD, the 1st bishop in this particular line.

LLOYD ordained (27 Mar 1927) HINTON to be his successor as 2nd primate of the ‘American Catholic Church’; he established an ‘Order of Antioch’ (ACC).

HINTON succeeded (1932) to LLOYD, and was (1933) president of the ‘American Catholic Community Church’ council (ACCC) and thus was the one to ordained CLARKSON into this apostolic line. (392;internet)

Note on the Free Church of England

1844 the Free Church of England was initiated in Devon as a low-church protest against the dictates of the Tractarian High-Church Henry
PHILLPOTTS bishop of Exeter with support from the duke of SOMERSET
31 Aug 1863 the ‘Free Church of England’ registered civilly, but without a bishop
1873 the Reformed Episcopal Church set up in New York USA by George David CUMMINS previously assistant bishop of Kentucky
1876 the Free Church of England received episcopal orders from Bishop CUMMINS of the Reformed Episcopal Church of the USA
1879 at Philadelphia Alfred A RICHARDSON made a bishop of a reformed Episcopal Church in the USA;
but on being judged bankrupt fled to England to a branch of the Reformed Episcopal church but failed in plans to unite this group with the Free Church of England.

RICHARDSON was involved with James MARTIN and Leon CHECHEMIA ‘primate of the United Armenian Catholic Church and archbishop of Selsey in the Ancient British Church’, who initiated groups like the ‘Free Protestant Episcopal Church of England’, which was distinct from the Free Church of England (392;391)

1879-1900 Samuel James Cox DICKSEE DD (1836-1900) incumbent of Christ Church Crowborough Kent and from 1876 first bishop of the Free Church of England
1927 the Free Church of England and the Reformed Episcopal Church formally united; the church very positive towards Freemasonry
1960 the Free Church of England had some 40 churches in England under the primus Frank VAUGHAN DD (consecrated in 1913)
1973 a more Conservative Evangelical group in protest broke with the Free Church of England and bought DICKSEE’s church of Christ Church
Crowborough

2003 the Free Church of England had some 24 congregations (2014: 19 congregations in England, none in New Zealand) in two dioceses in England and 4 in New Zealand
2004 in reaction to overtures of cooperation to the ‘Anglican Province of America’ (which included some AngloCatholic groups) the Free
Church of England split into a church of very Conservative Evangelicals and a church of more open Conservative Evangelicals. See also the biographical entry for the Revd Charles HASKEL [internet;391;MWB]

1940 Lowell Paul WADLE became the associate or coadjutor with Archbishop Percy CLARKSON of the Liberal Catholic church of Antioch

WADLE was an ‘independent Catholic bishop’, consecrated (30 Aug 1930 by a former Roman Catholic priest Justin (previously Justin A.) BOYLE) with orders in the VILATTE line. He was a Theosophist.

After the death of CLARKSON, WADLE became the 5th primate of the ‘Liberal Catholic Church of Antioch’ in the USA, styling himself ‘primate of the American Catholic (VILATTE succession) Apostolic Church of Long Beach” (391;internet)

Note on these churches

1933 Bishop Daniel HINTON became the president of the American Catholic Community Church council (ACCC) which might include but did not then subsist in the ‘Liberal Catholic Church of Antioch’.

CLARKSON was a prelate in the ‘Liberal Catholic Church of Antioch’, which was a parallel and similar jurisdiction to (but distinct from) the Liberal Catholic Church of America (LCCI) of North America, which itself was a split initiated by Frank Waters PIGOTT archbishop of the Liberal Catholic Church (LCC). (See Frank Waters PIGOTT in this Biographical Directory for he too had been a priest in the Anglican diocese of Auckland.)

1951 WADLE received the additional duties of Mar David 1 (vice W D de Ortega MAXEY) as patriarch of Malaga, archbishop primate of all the Iberians and supreme hierarch of the catholicate of the west in the Americas when MAXEY shed these tasks to become pastor of the First Universalist Church of Los Angeles (391)

These churches and their prelates interchanged names, prelatures, and properties over several generations. I cannot discover whether the line specifically represented by Archbishop CLARKSON continues into the twenty-first century.

However:

Nov 2009 Bishop Simon Eugene TALARCZYK taking services weekly at S Francis-by-the-Sea (information Starr Helms, author of history of Episcopal church of S Mary, Laguna – the adjacent Episcopal church)

2010 Simon TALARCZYK their pastor for some 38 years had succumbed to Alzheimer’s disease and the church had been locked up by his daughter claiming family ownership

Feb 2012 A liberal group the American Catholic Church in California had stepped forward to open the doors, and had appointed the Revd Brian DELVAUX priest of their church in Lakewood to take over S Francis cathedral. DELVAUX (1974) a Roman Catholic priest had converted to the American Catholic church.

16 Feb 2012 However Peter HICKMAN the presiding bishop of the Ecumenical Catholic Communion and pastor at S Matthew Ecumenical Catholic church Orange was chosen (by 32 church members associated with the S Francis cathedral but voting by proxy) to be the interim bishop for the parish to remove the very aged Simon TALARCZYK and evict DELVAUX. The California courts considered the case.
