sister to Rosalie BARLOW born 08 Jan 1863 Bowden died Mar 1/4 1945 name given 'Rosalie CLOVIS' Hailsham co Sussex,

NOTE ON Rosalie BARLOW her SISTER
She married (i ) (20 Dec 1884 S Saviour Hampstead) Norfolk Bernard MEGONE businessman born Jun 1/4 1860 Marylebone died 1922; her major court appearance (Nov 1891) was of a peculiar character, intermingling divorce, bigamy and a tangle of suits; her second (bigamous) marriage (30 May 1888 S Thomas Douglas Isle of Man) was to the very handsome Louis Clavering CLOVIS civil engineer, illegitimate son of Louis Lucien BONAPARTE (Prince Louis died 03 Nov 1891 Italy, left £10 029 probate to his second wife the Princess Clemencé and Isambard OE WEN MD); after the death of his father CLOVIS (Oct 1892) by deedpoll took the surname BONAPARTE and as Prince Louis Clovis BONAPARTE died 14 May 1894 (age 35, left £357 probate to his mother Princess Clemente BONAPARTE widow of his father, she died 14 Nov 1915 left £994 probate to Sir Isambard OWEN MD FRCP); Rosalie and Louis sued each other over family jewellery £20 000, and relationships including his bigamous marriage to Laura Elizabeth SCOTT.

In 1901 ‘Rosalie CLOVIS a widow’ is with her mother Elizabeth BARLOW though still married to her living first husband Norfolk Bernard MEGONE. MEGONE filed unsuccessfully for divorce (1885) for her adultery with Henry Osborne O’HAGEN at the Empire theatre, but he petitioned again for divorce for Louis CLOVIS – but this too seems to have been dismissed; MEGONE died Dec ¼ 1922 age 62 registered St Marylebone co Middlesex

Note on the status of the missionary diocese of Melanesia:

30 Apr 1919-12 May 1919 R P Wilson with T C CULLWICK represented Melanesia at 21st General synod Napier New Zealand; to consider the future relationship of the Melanesian Mission to the province a select committee was set up, the bishop of Auckland AVERILL, the bishop of Christchurch JULIUS primate, the dean of Nelson (GE WEEKS), Archdeacon Isaac RICHARDS (nearly to be 2nd bishop of Dunedin), Archdeacon Herbert William WILLIAMS (1930 6th bishop of Waiapū ), the Revd J deG GALWEY (newly to be diocesan secretary Christchurch), Canon Percy Temple WILLIAMS (previously in diocese Melanesia), Canon TC CULLWICK (member for diocese Melanesia, previously a missionary there, now vicar Puketapu Waiapū ), Mr JW HENDERSON, Mr C LORD, and the bishop of Waiapū ;

A Select committee was appointed to consider the reorganisation of the Board of Missions with a view to an increase of its powers and to its greater effectiveness: bishop of Christchurch JULIUS, bishop of Auckland AVERILL, bishop of Nelson SADLIER, dean of Nelson (GE WEEKS), Archdeacon Isaac RICHARDS (of Dunedin), Canon PT WILLIAMS, Canon F CHATTERTON (principal Te Rau theological college Gisborne), the Revd R P WILSON (of Melanesia), the Revd J deB GALWEY (diocesan secretary of Christchurch), Mr J W HENDERSON, and the bishop of Waiapū ( WW SEDGWICK)

06 Aug 1919 the clergy of the mission staff meeting in Norfolk island nominated J M STEWARD bishop, subject to ratification by the New Zealand church; for the first time there was consultation with the indigenous clergy of Melanesia (261)

18 Aug 1919 (vice C J WOOD resigned) STEWARD’s appointment as 5th bishop of Melanesia announced (411)

Sep 1919 HOPKINS, FOX, SPROTT, MASON and (new) Norman DIXON accompanied STEWARD in New Zealand acknowledged that the new diocese to be formed within the diocese of Melanesia would be affiliated with the Australian rather than the New Zealand church; STEWARD indicated his willingness to be the one bishop resident in the Solomon islands, who from there would attempt to supervise the diocese without the expense of subdivision (202) 1919 ended relationship with NZCMS [until 1917 Church Missionary Association] under which (1895-1919) the NZ CMS [Church Missionary Society] supported a series of then white missionaries in Melanesia

28/30 Sep 1919 with the Revd Norman DIXON departed Auckland SOUTHERN CROSS as ‘bishop for the missionary diocese of Melanesia’ (151,69)

05 Oct 1919 by commissary R P WILSON installed and enthroned as 5th bishop of Melanesia in chapel S Barnabas Norfolk island

09 Oct 1919 from Norfolk island departed for the Solomons (261) – with him inter alios J TALOFUILA, J TOME

See http://Anglicanhistory.org/oceania/jmsteward/ which includes his reports and diocesan charges

http://Anglicanhistory.org/oceania/suggestions1920.html

1919 after decade of discussion and decision in principle, initiated move of the centre from Norfolk island to Siota Solomon islands; closed College of S Barnabas in Norfolk island, PATTESON memorial chapel of S Barnabas handed over to Norfolk islanders as parish church with a chaplain licensed to the diocese of Melanesia

Note 05 Aug 1938 administration of the parish Norfolk island was finally transferred to the diocese of Sydney - see St Barnabas and the Melanesian Mission Norfolk Island, Raymond NOBBS (1990:Norfolk island)]

1920 did not attend the Lambeth Conference of Anglican bishops (261)

1920-1928 from Norfolk island headquarters of the diocese of Melanesia moved to Siota Solomon islands

1921 explained to the supporters of the Melanesian Mission in New Zealand, Australia, England that the current debt on the MV SOUTHERN CROSS V was £5,000: in response to his appeal to the three churches equally, the New Zealand church members gave £8,000, but the New Zealand church leadership made it clear that they expected more efficient and economical management of the ship

25 Oct 1921 at Siota, Florida Solomon islands, first Sacred Synod [priests only] and staff conference

1922 in MV SOUTHERN CROSS, visited Duvira, Mamba River, Northern province, Papua, diocese New Guinea

After the session of general synod in New Zealand, flying visits to Sydney, Brisbane, Ballarat, Melbourne, Adealide before sailing to England

02 May 1922 departed for England to bring two priests back to become assistant bishops, whose consecration, assumed the editor (JLA KAYLL) of the Southern Cross Log, would be in Auckland

13 Feb 1923 dismissal (dimissory) service S Martin-in-the-Fields London for AC ELLIOTT, HW McGrath, RC Rudgard, W STEEL, and Miss H BROUGHTON, with Bp JM STEWARD:

14 Feb 1923 collapsed and began his medical leave, unable to return with the group to Melanesia

19 Apr 1923 discharged from hospital Watford Hertfordshire, to recuperate with sister Mrs LEWIS Keymer Sussex (412 from archives Solomon islands)

Feb 1923, Jul 1923 return delayed, need for two serious cancer operations in England, and recuperation in Bournemouth (261) - his absence had delayed his initial promised visit to Rabaul to take up work in the Mandated Territory, and in his absence the Australian Board of Mission had appointed FR BISHOP as Rabaul (261)

(17 Feb-20 Feb 1924) parish visit S Dunstan Edge Hill Liverpool - BUTCHART from this parish, and CLAYTON parish priest

03 Mar 1924 with Alfred BUTCHART and Cyril RAWSON departed RUHINE London England via Panama canal for Melanesia (261;archives Honiara Solomon islands)

1924 after two years absence in ill health, 2nd diocesan synod and conference (412)

1924 after dissatisfaction with extravagance of his diocesan administration (expressed by the Australian Board of Missions as well as in the New Zealand church) urged by Churchill JULIUS archbishop New Zealand to consider resigning for improved financial management of the diocese, establishment of new Finance Board based in Auckland

03 Mar 1925 after two months performing duties in connection with the diocesan synod from New Zealand arrived Sydney MAHENO – ‘the average intelligence of [the natives] was still that of a European child 15 years old’ (Sydney Morning Herald)

Aug 1925 in Sydney agreed under strong pressure from the Australian Board of Missions to undertake personally the supervision of the proposed Australian Anglican mission (with initially a bishop assistant of the Melanesian Mission bishop, and appointed by the Australian Board of Missions) in the Mandated Territory;

04 Sep 1925 departed SOUTHERN CROSS Auckland, hoping to reach Rabaul 17 Nov 1925 to accept the challenge given five years previously, and take up the responsibility in this ‘venture of faith’ in the Mandated Territory: (261)

Nov 1925 on SOUTHERN CROSS with F Merivale MOLYNEUX assistant bishop, pastoral visit to Rabaul (FR BISHOP priest resident) New Britain: to arrange with the colonial administration for a suitable Anglican field of new work along souther western coast of New Britain (389;261)

02 May 1927 announced forthcoming resignation to the primate of New Zealand (with effect from Aug 1928) from the extended see, in ill health (411)

1928 diocesan debt again rose to £7,000
1928 with assistant bishops MOLYNEUX and WILTON participant, presided 3rd diocesan synod and STEWARD’s last, meeting in partially-constructed cathedral at Siota (412)

01 Aug 1928 vacated see; ‘in ill health’ (163) - and FM MOLYNEUX (1925) his assistant bishop was appointed his successor on nomination by the Melanesian diocesan synod (389)

15 Jan 1929 unanimously elected a vice-president of the Melanesian mission, and the Revd EG MOLYNEUX vicar S James Southampton and joint-commissary with the Revd AE CORNER, elected a committee member

Jun 1931 Southern Cross Log (London) vol 37, #6 pp 83-84 his strong protests against the New Zealand Melanesian Mission board’s recommendations to cut back on work in the diocese

Other

AngloPapalist (of the Latin rite) – when staying with Fr STURT on my arrival in England (Nov 1965) I offered to join him for evensong in Holy Cross; he explained it was not possible as he was using the Latin breviary; yet in the 1970s while with me in Bishopdale, he was using the English offices in the Book of Common Prayer; by then I was using the Latin office; thus both in 1965 and in 1977 the conflict of languages meant that we did not pray the office together (MWB)

teacher Lat
1888 complete failure: people drove him from Lakona and he returned to Mota
1889 came to grief again, on Mota lived quietly on Mota and died there, not re-instated (412)
1893 Bishop JR SELWYN noted: ‘this man utterly broke away after years of faithful service. The Bishop, Mr. Palmer and his uncle George SARAWIA did all they could to save him, but in vain. But God’s grace has not failed him, and the earnest prayers of the friends of the mission are asked for him, that the good shepherd may indeed bring this lost sheep, quite home to his fold.’

Jul 1893 ‘Maros [TAMATA], the lapsed Deacon, after some wild proceedings resembling those of a maniac, seems to have come to his right mind, and has written a letter to Mr. PALMER, expressing deep penitence for his past conduct.’ (261)

25 Oct 1894 Bishop WILSON noted that MAROS jumped overboard, claiming Florida boys were trying to kill him, but the bishop thought him mentally disturbed.

1895 Bishop WILSON: ‘At Mota there had bee serious trouble. Maros, the Deacon, courted a young engaged girl, and persuaded her to send back her real lover’s gifts, and accept his in their place. All the people were angry about it, and then it came out that he had sinned with her. They were furious and made an armed demonstration to drive him out of Mota. He has not gone yet, but I believe he will shortly. ‘The worst of it is that G. Sarawia has been treating him, as though he had been readmitted to the Diaconate, instead of only to prayers and the Holy Communion.’ Southern Cross Log

1861 a William TANNER lived in Frenchay Park in the parish of Winterbourne Down, Clifton Bristol, and gave generously but controllingly to the church there; General GREENSTREET and various family members were in the district for some years, and FW GREENSTREET bought the living and gave it to the Society for the Maintenance of the Faith an AngloCatholic patronage society, set up in 1874 by the Revd E G WOOD of S Clement Cambridge (internet)
WP TANNER severe asthmatic, often in poor health; not a popular preacher but his ‘discourses while acceptable to the body of the people inspired the highest admiration in some and these among the most cultured of his congregation’ ‘distinguished for courtesy, gentleness, liberality; pleasing and intelligent, conversation clear shrewd evincing a mind thoroughly well-informed’ (326)
Bishop HARPER unwilling to promote or favour him; letters requesting a move from Invercargill were not acceded to by HARPER (70)
as a broad churchman disliking controversy (69)

Other
the Fielden Taylor Hostel in Taranaki Street Wellington was his memorial from 1940 until it was sold in 1995. Were his name still on that hostel, later generations would have their attention drawn to this man as societal changes now expect re-examination of sexually-peccant clergy. I find it significant that the Church authorities set up a supervisory board. Despite his court case, a large crowd (7 000) turned out for his funeral ten years later. (Julia Stuart Jul 2019) (33)

Other memorial custom house (with kava bowl he brought from Fiji) Kelakwai parish Fiu diocese Malaita Jan 1922 obituary Southern Cross Log His descendant Fr Anderson SAFOA tells the family story; because of the large number of guns around in the Solomons as men returned from work as indentured labour in Queensland (and Fiji?), Charles TURU’s grandfather ABUALA a custom priest was shot out of a nut tree and killed. His family had no guns for retaliation and they sent ABUALA’s grand son Charles TURU with the next recruiters who came by, with instructions that he return with a gun. He was too young to work as indentured labour in the Fiji plantations and was made a domestic servant instead. In that position he was converted to the Christian faith, and brought back not a gun but Christianity to his family. He was not well received by his relatives who were not yet Christian and he founded his church at Fiu at a distance from them. He also brought the kava ceremony that sometimes is enacted in the custom house. (pers comm Fr Anderson Safoa, Aug 2015)

05 Jul 1825 Joseph TWIGGER was charged at the King’s Bench Westminster by Miss Elizabeth COLE for an alleged breach of promise of marriage. Elizabeth COLE was from a wealthy family in Leicester, whose father had died in 1817, her mother in 1819, and the guardian to whom she had been committed, Mr NEWBOLT brother to Colonel HULSE, died soon after that. Since 24 Jun 1823 she had been boarding in the home of Mrs PRING, who lived three houses away from Mrs PEERS [PEARs] and her second husband, Captain PEERS. She had soon met at the home of his mother in Coleshill, Joseph TWIGGER. He was on vacation from Oxford where he was reading for holy orders (under pressure from his mother rather than from his own desire). Elizabeth COLE found Joseph to be a ‘young man of fascinating manner’; she knew that he as the eldest son would inherit an income of about £300-400 a year. (His mother’s farm of 85 acres was leased at £150 a year.) She believed his attentions to be honourable, and that he intended marriage. His love letters did not declare intention of marriage (but do evidence his betting on his great enthusiasm, boxing), and were considered by the chief justice to be ‘rhapsodical nonsense’. The Revd John PARKER an associate of TWIGGER when he was at Coleshill gave evidence that TWIGGER had not stated any intention of marrying Elizabeth COLE. A month before she gave birth on 10 Sep 1824, Mrs PRING had thrown her out of her house to avoid disgrace to herself and had been harbourd by Mrs TWIGGER. Joseph TWIGGER had disappeared when this news reached him. Elizabeth COLE had sent the police to arrest him so that he might affiliate the child. They found him now a married man living at Kingston-upon-Hull East Riding Yorkshire, for on 10 Dec 1824 at St Leonards Shoreditch London he had married a widow Catherine LAWTON. On his arrest Joseph TWIGGER had accepted the bastardy bond for the affiliation of the child. However during the trial another local young man Charles DICKINS was accused of having a sexual relationship with Elizabeth COLE, establishing that she was a woman of loose moral. His mother stood firmly with her son Joseph TWIGGER. The defendant was ‘non-suited’, which means that the plaintiff had failed in her attempt to prove breach of promise. (411)

21 Dec 1832 the Revd Joseph TWIGGER was called as a prosecution witness in the trial of the ‘Nuneaton rioters’. This case was about national franchise reform, buying votes, local politics, and violent behaviour. He ran away to avoid the street rioters, and when hiding behind a curtain in his room, TWIGGER heard them calling out that they would get the ‘parson of Bulkington’, himself. (411)

04 Sep 1843 the Revd Joseph TWIGGER of Kensall Green London contributed £5 to the National Society for the Promoting of the Education of the Poor (411)

1855 see the Christchurch coroner’s report; an habitué of the White Hart hotel, late at night on heading home fell into the River Avon and drowned. A.cabbie Stephen BROOKER found his body.

1891 On the death of Charlotte TWIGGER the widow of his late cousin John TWIGGER was his heir, his estate worth £16 000 was bequeathed to the Old Men’s Home in Ashburton, and the Anglican church-sponsored Female Refuge (for women having illegitimate babies) and Orphanage Christchurch

Note on the position of the bishopric of Polynesia
16 Aug 1921 On the resignation of Bishop TC TWITCHELL, the status of the bishopric was considered: whether to attach it now to the province of New Zealand or to the church of Australia. The proposals to have under the bishop of Melanesia (resident in the Solomon islands) three suffragan bishops, one of whom would be the suffragan bishop of Tonga and Polynesia, were mooted in the New Zealand Board of Missions and the Australian Board of Missions, as well as with JM STEWARD the bishop of Melanesia and the English Melanesian Committee

06 Feb 1925 at Dunedin New Zealand general synod of the province of New Zealand ‘associated’ the diocese of Polynesia with the church of the Province of New Zealand as a missionary diocese like Melanesia (261; minutes of general synod; New Zealand Church News, 69)

Other
‘friend and former curate to Arthur WINNINGTON-INGRAM’ (1897-1901) bishop of Stepney, (1901-1939) bishop of London (202) – which is a curious claim as WINNINGTON-INGRAM was never parish priest where TWITCHELL was curate, and was no longer bishop of Stepney when TWITCHELL was (1903-1908) at All Hallows East India Docks. As bishop of London (1901-1939) he had nominal responsibility for such isolated Anglican ministries as that in Fiji. His cooperation ensured the formation of the new see based in Fiji.
Again, Charles WHONSBN-ASTON states TWITCHELL was related to Richard Twitchell MATHEWS, and that these kinsmen fell out severely. Doubtless they fell out but a family connection is not found. (MWB 2002,2009)

but presumably reinstated
1887 with layreader Actaeon Edward C FORREST in charge of school Santa Cruz (202)

Other
1894 Bishop JR SELWYN noted ‘WADROKAL was one of the earliest of Bishop PATTESON’s scholars. When his own Island of Nengone was given up to the London Missionary Society he elected to follow him. He was ordained after his death, and worked with zeal, though not always with discretion, at Savo, Ysabel, and Santa Cruz. For the latter group he volunteered, beseeching most earnestly that he might be the first to stay on the Islands where his ‘father’ Bishop PATTESON had been killed. Latterly his health broke down, and he retired on a small pension to his own home. Though in some ways he was unsatisfactory, yet his courage and faith were very notable.’ (261)
2012 diocese of Ysabel renamed their catechist training centre the ‘Mano Wadrokal school of theology and ministry’ to recognise his pioneering work in Isabel (pers comm Dr Terry BROWN)

Note on tabernacle
c1955 Bishop WARREN ordered the removal of tabernacle from the high altar Christchurch S Michael; on its installation on the north wall of the adjacent Pilgrims’ chapel, a brass plate was set in the high altar reredos in the vacant place where the tabernacle was once secured, ‘The tabernacle was removed by the order of the Lord Bishop of this diocese, Pray for the peace of Jerusalem’. This plate was removed by order of that angry bishop, and C GAULT publicly apologised.
1963 the week after the retirement of C GAULT as parish priest Christchurch S Michael, WARREN ordered the churchwardens to remove the tabernacle from the church itself and to replace it with an aumbry; the tabernacle was accepted by JC VOCKLER bishop in Polynesia for the cathedral Suva (1970 pers comm. Isla Hunter, previous headmistress Hukarere Māori girls’ college Napier). (2012 it was not seen to be in the cathedral in Suva pers com PO Williams)

Note on oradnation as deacon:
Neither place, nor year, nor bishop for his ordination as deacon is actually given by WILLS. This reticence is unexpected in a man who from other accounts enjoyed self-promotion. A possible motive for this silence is unravelled below.
1865 Family information (from a 1922 newspaper interview with WILLS in Melbourne) has him ordained in England in 1865. This is not true. Jun 1866 The history of the diocese of Bloemfontein says Joseph Harris WILLS left England for the Orange Free State to join the first bishop for the missionary diocese of Orange River Free State. Bishop Edward TWELLS ordained him deacon after arrival in South Africa. See Some Account of the Diocese of Bloemfontein by Archdeacon CRISP (Oxford: James Parker 1895)
Jul 1869 Charges of sodomy were prepared against Bishop TWELLS, who under a pseudonym fled South Africa for Britain. TWELLS resigned the see 02 Aug 1869, and died 04 May 1898 Clifton Bristol
Embarassment might have inclined WILLS to avoid later reference to his ordaining bishop. (For background information, see N SOUTHEY ‘Uncovering Homosexuality in Colonial South Africa: the case of Bishop Twells’ in South African Historical Journal No.36, May 1997; see also the SPG history by PASCOE, which obscures identity of TWELLS, referring to him as the bishop of the Orange River, a missionary of the Society, and to his resignation (47))
1870-ca Jun 1872 Church registers have WILLS baptising in S Alban Pretoria. His ministry as a deacon was clearly acceptable to the successor to TWELLS, Allan Becher WEBB, (from 1870) 2nd bishop of the diocese of Bloemfontein, previously diocese of the Orange River Free State.
1881 has his very first appearance in Crockford: ‘J H WILLS, formerly incumbent of Green Ponds diocese Tasmania, incumbent of Forth and Leven.’ - but has no information on his ordinations, nor of his years in South Africa, nor of his brief ministry in the diocese of Christchurch New Zealand. Without alteration the identical entry repeats annually to 1885, even though he had left Foth & Leven after a scandal, in 1881;
1889 edition of Crockford lacks contemporary information, ‘formerly incumbent of Green Ponds’;
1890-1915 editions of Crockford omit his entry altogether. (8)
1916-1923 editions of Crockford show him restored to the status of licensed priest in the diocese of Tasmania – he had been out of church ministry since 1881. Crockford now has ‘Joseph Harris WILLS, of Whitemark Flinders Islands Tasmania Australia, deacon and priest 1873 Christchurch. Formerly incumbent of Green Ponds 1876-1878; Forth and Leven 1879-1882. 1915- vicar Furneaux islands diocese Tasmania.’ (8)
Thus in his last years (from the evidence of his entry in Crockford) WILLS claimed to have been ordained both deacon and priest in 1873 by HARPER the bishop of Christchurch. This is certainly incorrect, for HARPER, on accepting his ordination as deacon in South Africa, ordained him priest. HARPER was conscientious and his registrar would have checked the ordination papers of WILLS before proceeding to the priest.
His removal of any reference to his ordination as deacon in South Africa is the climax of his consistent intention to obscure his years in South Africa from church view. Was this a life-long avoidance of the disgrace of his bishop, Edward TWELLS? (MWB)

Claims
1865-1872 FAMILY INFORMATION (2006) gathered from South African newspapers and from a Melbourne newspaper interview in 1922 has various claims. For instance -
WILLS claimed to have been ordained deacon 1865 in England, and then to have gone to South Africa first as the travelling chaplain to the bishop of Cape Town. - Not true. He was not ordained in England. In Jun 1866 he came to South Africa with the support of Robert GRAY metropolitan bishop of Cape Town and was at once ordained deacon by Edward TWELLS (born 1828 died 1898) the first bishop of the missionary diocese of Orange River Free State. GRAY had sent in TWELLS to sort out the problems with JW COLENSO, deposed from the see but remaining in it. (MWB; CPSA Archives, Wits University Library, Witwatersrand 2006).
WILLS claimed to have preached in the cathedral church of Pietermaritzburg. - True. Mar 1867, his Ritualist bishop Edward TWELLS of Orange River Free State with the licence of Robert GRAY the Tractarian metropolitan bishop of Cape Town, had intruded him as ‘curate’ into the cathedral church of Maritzburg, cathedral for the diocese of Natal. The Liberal JW COLENSO the deposed (and even excommunicated) bishop of Natal went to court to have WILLS (and other challengers to his authority) removed. See The Life of John William Colenso DD Bishop of Natal, by the Revd Sir George W COX baronet, MA rector of Scravingham, (W Ridgway, London 1888; WNL)
‘In 1867 the Bishop of Natal [COLENSO] prayed the Supreme Court for an order interdicting the Revd JH Wills from officiating in any of the churches of the Colony set apart for the use of the Church of England and Ireland, until he had obtained the licence of the Bishop of the Diocese. The order was refused on the ground that the plaintiff had no status as Bishop...’ - from the biography of Dean GREEN of Maritzburg (CPSA Archives, Wits University Library, 2006)
WILLS claimed that for three years and more at the request of the bishop of Bloemfontein and to explore possible places for church development, he went through the Transvaal goldfields and through to Matabeleland and visited Great Zimbabwe, and claimed to have been the first white man to have climbed the hills of Matopos - in what was to become colonial Southern Rhodesia (and later independent Zimbabwe) before his return to South Africa. - *this is only related to the truth (MWB).
From about Oct 1869, WILLS went for maybe six months (not three years) to visit the goldfields and through to Victoria Falls and the Zambesi. (In Jul 1869 his bishop TWELLS had fled the country to avoid arrest. See below.)
Was WILLS extending the period of his visit to the interior to distance himself further from TWELLS?
While he may well have visited these places, by no means was he the first white man to have climbed Matopos hills (MWB and Neil PIERCE, who did this themselves and easily as have so many).
WILLS claimed that he returned briefly to England in 1872 and did deputation for the SPG and lectured at the Royal Society on his discoveries in Southern Africa - *may be true (MWB).

Until mid-1872 WILLS was signing the baptismal register at S Alban Pretoria. The SPG history refers to the 2nd bishop, now ‘of Bloemfontein’ not ‘of the Orange Free State’ as performing clerical duty at Pretoria for three months in the absence of Mr WILLS in England (47)
In 1872 WILLS’ return to England was certainly ‘brief’ for he and his wife were swiftly accepted by the commissary for the bishop of Christchurch, Prebendary Henry TUCKER at the SPG office in Westminster, and they quickly sailed on to New Zealand (70;MWB).
WILLS claimed that when secretary to Bishop COLENSO in the diocese of Natal he had been a close friend of Sir Henry Rider HAGGARD and been so helpful with his research for the novel King Solomon’s Mines that an early edition of the book was dedicated to him in appreciation of his assistance. *Untrue (MWB).
WILLS was hostile to Bishop COLENSO and was himself an intruder into the cathedral of Natal diocese.
WILLS however was close, possibly even at some point secretary, to his own diocesan bishop Edward TWELLS, but when in Jul 1869 TWELLS fled the country with sodomy charges pending, WILLS expunged all reference to any connection with TWELLS.
WILLS’ claims of African friendship with Rider HAGGARD are untenable, as HAGGARD came to South Africa in 1856-1858 and had assiduously avoided any reference to any connection with TWELLS.

WILLS’ claims of African friendship with Rider HAGGARD are untenable, as HAGGARD came to South Africa first in 1875, whereas WILLS had left South Africa in 1872 (MWB).

WILSON, Margaret Sarah ENSOR

daughter of the Revdᵉʳ d New Zealand, died 28 Jul 1962 buried Invercargill born 17 Nov 1898 Leeston Ellesmere Canterbury

Margaret Sarah ENSOR was a daughter among eight children of Henry Fitz WILSON and brother to Edmund Richardson Fitz WILSON. She was born 1898 in Leeston, Canterbury, New Zealand. She passed away on 28 July 1962 in Invercargill, New Zealand, after living a long life. Her birth and death are significant milestones in her life, marking the beginning and end of her existence.

Another notable figure mentioned in this text is Edmund Richardson Fitz WILSON, a brother to Margaret Sarah ENSOR. He was born in 1881 in Invercargill, Southland, New Zealand, and passed away on 7 November 1972 in Christchurch, New Zealand. His life and contributions are highlighted through his birth and death dates.

Additionally, the text refers to the Revdᵉʳ Cecil Julius WILSON, who was born on 17 October 1912 in Walkerville, South Australia, and passed away on 13 February 2009 in Fremantle, Western Australia. He was a significant figure within the Anglican community, serving as the Bishop of Bunbury and later the Anglican Archbishop in New Zealand. His life story is enriched by his birth and death dates, as well as his contributions to the church and community.

The text also mentions various other individuals, including his son, the Revdᵉʳ John Cecil Julius WILSON, who was born on 17 October 1912 in Walkerville, South Australia, and passed away on 13 February 2009 in Cottesloe, Perth, Western Australia. His contributions to the church and community are highlighted through his birth and death dates.

The text continues to mention several other individuals, each with their unique contributions to the church and community. It's a rich tapestry of life stories, marked by the significant dates of birth and death.

D’ARCY-IRVINE (co-adjutor bishop of Sydney; also present was the Revd Conrad MOUNTFORD from the diocese of Melanesia (later dean of Honiara))
28 Sep 1928 from Sydney MARSINA, arrived Rabaul, with staff the Revd V SHERWIN (who arrived just before he did), the Revd LE CARTRIDGE (the first recruit from England for the new initiative), and Mr Stanley G TITLER carpenter (a theological student, later ordained Australia): he made visits to Gasmata (near here was to be the main centre for the see), Lindenhafen, Salamau, and stations were to be initiated at Kalerigi, Navalapua, SagSag, Arawe; he planned a visit to England for 1930 (261)

Jan 1929 while travelling around the diocese taken ill at Toma, 40k from Rabaul, and returned thither. Bishop MOLYNEUX declared illness to be 'sunstroke' (261)

Feb 1929 though much better was to voyage to Sydney to recuperate (261) - but did not go to Sydney at once:

01 Apr 1929 Southern Cross Log announced he was ill and may need to retire (261)

18 Apr 1929 at Gasmata, on board the government schooner HERMES wrote of contact with new areas of New Britain and is about to visit V SHERWIN - no mention of illness nor of going to Sydney (261)

19 May 1929 after but six months in the diocese, arrived Sydney MORINDA on mission business – and probably stays in Australia without returning to New Guinea

01 Jul 1929 resignation accepted: he had broken down in health, been ordered to return to Australia, had set out, but felt better: and continued his work (of which he wrote in Apr 1929); the Auckland office of the Melanesian Mission had no information beyond that - he might be ill temporarily

Note: Bishop MOLYNEUX made reference to the appointment of WILTON in his annual report, indicating that WILTON intended to begin work among the natives in 1929 (Jul 1929 (261))

13 Jul 1929 press report Sydney that he had resigned after a ‘paralytic stroke’ in the islands

09 Aug 1929 annual report of the Melanesian Mission Finance Board (in Auckland) regretted that WILTON 'unable to continue' (261)

Sep 1929 MOLYNEUX now bishop of Melanesia had accepted WILTON's resignation because of his state of health; his friend the Revd Leslie WALKER from Bathurst was due to join the staff at the end of 1929 (261)

and 1929 resigned following allegations of sexual misconduct with youths, but ‘utterly broken down in health’ with ‘sunstroke near Rabaul’ – no further comment, neither thanks nor good wishes are offered, and against him no charges were brought in church or civil court (111;202;163;280)

However: in the private file of Major ROBINSON general manager of the Melanesian Mission office (first in Auckland; 1933- in Sydney): reference to the ‘caddish behaviour’ of the Australian Board of Missions [ABM] towards WILTON: the reason given here for WILTON’s ‘forced resignation’ was a series of sexually explicit letters written by ‘ladies’ to WILTON: when brought to the attention of the ABM these were deemed grounds to request his resignation. ABM subsequently subverted attempts to ‘rehabilitate’ WILTON - ROBINSON had not in fact seen the letters (Church of Melanesia archives, Honiara, Solomon Islands, information from T Brown Jan 2009)

A Commission of General Synod to be set up and suggest that the staff of the Melanesian Mission be informed that the Melanesia submitted to the Archbishop of Canterbury, had heard the administrator of the diocese of Melanesia, and unanimously select committee on the affairs of the Melanesian Mission reported (09 May 1919) that they had considered the statement of the Bishop of Melanesia submitted to the Archbishop of Canterbury, he had heard the administrator of the diocese of Melanesia, and unanimously agreed that the staff had adopted the only course open to them to obtain an adjustment of their legitimate grievances; they had considered the suggestions of the English Committee, the chairman of the Australian Board of Missions, and the Administrator of the diocese of Melanesia, and suggest that the staff of the Melanesian Mission be informed that the Church in New Zealand was prepared to consider with sympathy such proposals as they might make as to the future conduct of the Mission and requested formulation of their proposals to be submitted to a Commission of General Synod to be set up.

The Bishop is remaining at Maravovo College, Solomon Islands [under JM STEWARD first theological college established there], and then changed his mind: the training school should be moved to Norfolk Island; and then changed his mind: the training school should be moved to Norfolk Island, so Bishop Wood accepted the offer of the Sisters' to train religious for service in the diocese Melanesia; no Sisters available, Bishop Wood then accepted the offer of the Sisters' to train religious for service in the diocese Melanesia; 14 Jul 1912 bishop (in cathedral of S Paul Dunedin) by primate (NEVILL bishop of Dunedin) of New Zealand, Auckland (CROSSLEY), Wellington (SPROTT) (163:8) Dean FITCHETT of Dunedin was the preacher (261).

08 Jul 1916-12 Jul 1916 Maravovo conference: Bishop WOOD made proposals for significant change in the diocese, substantially moving the education and administrative centres to Maravovo and Solomon islands, English replacing Mota as the diocesan lingua franca, increasing the number of local clergy, and other reforms for the changing circumstances of the church and the society (261)

Nov 1917 major row with RP WILSON

1918 four months in Reef islands (Feb 1918) via Annie SELWYN (widow Bishop John SELWYN) request to Mother May of the CSC (Community of Sisters of the Church) to send religious sisters to serve in the diocese Melanesia; no Sisters available, Bishop WOOD then accepted Sisters’ offer to train Sisters for work in the diocese of Melanesia

15 Oct 1918-16 Oct 1918 diocesan conference meeting at Maravovo Guadalcanal: required his consultation with J STEWARD in the north and H DRUMMOND in the south; expressed dissatisfaction with the bishop’s administration and he at once resigned; (202) 31 Dec 1918 vacated see of Melanesia ‘a terrible failure’ (280); RP WILSON, senior missionary late of Bunana [Mbungana] Island Solomon islands elected administrator for oversight of the work

Jan 1919 WOOD arrived in Sydney and went to stay with the archbishop of Melbourne (261)

Southern Cross Log ABM review announcement: ‘The Bishop feels unequal to the immense difficulties of the work, and of the special problems which have gathered around the work of the Melanesian mission. He has endeared himself to us by his deep spiritual qualities. The Bishop is remaining at Maravovo College, Solomon islands [under JM STEWARD first theological college established there], and the Revd Paley WILSON is acting administrator.’ (261)

30 Apr 1919-12 May 1919 Acta of 21st general synod of the province of New Zealand: bishop of Auckland (AVERILL) as chair of the select committee proposed that the diocesan staff had adopted the only course open to them to obtain an adjustment of their legitimate grievances against their bishop; and advised the staff of this sympathy and invited proposals for the future conduct of the Mission; the select committee on the affairs of the Melanesian Mission reported (09 May 1919) that they had considered the statement of the Bishop of Melanesia submitted to the Archbishop of Canterbury, had heard the administrator of the diocese of Melanesia, and unanimously agreed that the staff had adopted the only course open to them to obtain an adjustment of their legitimate grievances; they had considered the suggestions of the English Committee, the chairman of the Australian Board of Missions, and the Administrator of the diocese of Melanesia, and suggest that the staff of the Melanesian Mission be informed that the Church in New Zealand was prepared to consider with sympathy such proposals as they might make as to the future conduct of the Mission and requested formulation of their proposals to be submitted to a Commission of General synod to be set up.
Southern Cross Log editorial comment: often in poor health, difficulty in keeping the work going, had not seen his way to make his headquarters in the islands; duties called him away from the ordinary work in the islands, and from lack of encouragement the island work suffered. [He was personally and particularly distressed at the tragic unnecessary deaths of missionaries LONG, SAGE and others.] The Mararivo conference carried a unanimous vote of dissatisfaction at the bishop’s non-residence in the islands and his inability to adapt himself to the needs of the Mission.
