OF THE
CHURCH OF SAINT MARY THE VIRGIN
NEW YORK

VOL. XVII APRIL, 1948 No. 4
Dear Parishioners of St Mary's,

Most, if not all, of us by God's grace have been borne to greater spiritual heights by our Lenten devotion and discipline and almsgiving. Our motto during Eastertide and the months following should be "Hold the line".

Now, of course, it is not fitting to carry on throughout the Christian year the Lent fast which we have engaged in, yet this fast, as the proper Lent Preface puts it, has been for the curbing of our sinfulness, the raising of our minds from things of the earth, and the renewing of our strength. Therefore, it is fitting that we should hold to and build on our manifold blessings all the days of our life, — those blessings with which we have been rewarded during the holy season of Lent.

Sometimes well-meaning Christians complain that they seem to make so little progress in the spiritual life. I am convinced that this lack of progress is due in large measure to prolonged rest periods taken at too frequent intervals during the Christian year. While we rest, the devil acts!

Now, during Lent, each of us has climbed at least another rung in the ladder that reaches from earth to heaven. We have tasted of the sweet labor of prayer. We have come to live more faithfully by and from the altar where the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass has been attended more frequently and with greater devotion. We have experienced God's mercy in absolution at our confessions. We have found our visits to the Blessed Sacrament the veritable killing of the trivial. We have come to appreciate more than ever the love of God as it has been revealed to us in our meditations and Bible reading and other spiritual reading. We have discovered that the necessary discipline in the control of our bodily appetites has brought us an undreamed of freedom. We have learned of the abiding joy that accompanies sacrificial giving.
Shall we give up all this spiritual treasure? No, a thousand times no! Let us hold it all and beg the Holy Spirit to permit us by His power to daily increase in the stature that belongs to the faithful follower of Jesus Christ.

Affectionately,

ANGlicAN CATHolIC DECORUM

What do Anglican Catholics do when they are planning to be married? First of all, they will refuse to consider any marriage other than the Sacrament of Holy Matrimony. Seeking this Sacrament they will go to the priest to make the necessary appointments. One of these appointments would be an instruction for both bride and groom on the purposes, privileges and duties of married life. After this instruction the bride and groom will sign the following statement: “We, . . . and . . . desiring to receive the blessing of Holy Matrimony in the Church, do solemnly declare that we hold marriage to be a lifelong union of husband and wife as it is set forth in the Form of Solemnization of Matrimony in the Book of Common Prayer. We believe it is for the purpose of mutual fellowship, encouragement and understanding, for the procreation (if it may be) of children, and their physical and spiritual nurture, for the safeguarding and benefit of society. And we do engage ourselves, so far as in us lies, to make our utmost effort to establish this relationship and to seek God’s help thereto.” The date of the wedding will be set, not on any Sunday, Christmas Day or during Lent. The bride and groom should make their confession a day or two before their marriage that they may enter on their new life together with the guilt of sin removed. The hour for the wedding should be a morning hour when the marriage may be followed by a Nuptial Mass at which the receiving of Holy Communion would be the first act of husband and wife. What better approach to married life than confession and communion? No married life can be happy save as each partner to the marriage constantly says and means “I am sorry” and “I am grateful”. Both before marriage express sorrow for sin in the Sacrament of Holy Penance and both immediately after marriage express gratitude for the privilege of offering their imperfections in union with the perfection of Jesus, both Priest and Victim, in the Mass, and of thereby being reconciled to God the Father as they receive Holy Communion. As will be easily recognized the wedding breakfast can follow only a morning wedding and at this wedding breakfast the bride and groom together break the fast kept before their communion. If it is impossible to arrange for a morning wedding then the bride and groom should receive the Blessed Sacrament at some Mass on their wedding day.

At least two witnesses to the marriage must be provided, but it is natural to invite relatives and friends to the administration of the Sacrament of Holy Matrimony that they may assist by their prayers.

If a wedding is to be an elaborate affair, with many ushers, bridesmaids, etc., a rehearsal should be arranged for. This rehearsal will be conducted by the priest, and with the reverence always befitting God’s House and according to the Church’s ways, not the ways of the latest book on etiquette. The music at a wedding is always to be the music of the Church, not pagan or popular music, urged upon or even offered by “friends of the family”. The decorations at the church should be simply carried out and in good taste, with cut flowers only on the altar. Nothing should be arranged that would draw attention from the altar or from the bride and groom who after all are the principals of the wedding. This is why only bride and groom properly should be paired, and blithe bridesmaids should not walk out of the church paired with nonplussed ushers.

There is no such thing as a double ring ceremony. If a second ring appears it may be blessed, but only the wedding ring that is given by the groom to the bride is ceremonially used in the Sacrament of Holy Matrimony.

In speaking of Anglican Catholic Decorum with regard to weddings, it is assumed that both bride and groom are Anglican Catholics. However, an Anglican Catholic often falls in love with a member of another Christian body, or even with a non-Christian. What then? If the other party to the marriage has proof of baptism in the name of the Blessed Trinity and by using water, the marriage may be arranged for. If not, the unbaptized must receive the Sacrament of Holy Baptism, for no sacrament of Holy Church, including the Sacrament of Holy Matrimony, may be administered to the unbaptized. This is an honest and natural ruling since only those who by baptism become members of Christ’s Mystical Body, the Holy Catholic Church, would expect to receive that Church’s blessings. It is well to remember that Holy Baptism is never refused to anyone who truly desires to become a member of the Mystical Body of Christ. If the unbaptized party to the marriage refuses baptism, the Sacrament of Holy Matrimony may not be administered and a civil marriage must be resorted to.

The Sacrament of Holy Matrimony may not be administered to any divorced person whose former husband or wife is living, unless in accordance with the Canons of the Church the bishop or ecclesiastical authority of the diocese has given permission for remarriage. Such permission is not often granted, but it may sometimes be given in cases where the divorce could be deemed under the Church’s Canons to be a nullification, whereby it is recognized that no marriage has ever existed.

A wedding is an occasion both happy and solemn. As the exhortation in the Book of Common Prayer puts it, marriage “is not to be entered into unadvisedly or lightly; but reverently, discreetly, advisedly, soberly, and in the fear of God”. When a man and a woman marry they do so that they may express their love each to the other both spiritually and physically, that they may establish a new Christian home and that they may accept the responsibility of bringing up children in the nurture and love of God. Solemn duties and privileges, these, but what joy and happiness belongs to those who fulfil them in Christ Jesus!

REPORT FROM MANILA

We are happy to print the following letter from Benito Cabanban, Chairman of the student body at Saint Andrew’s Theological Seminary, Manila, at the head of which is Father Mandell, our parish missionary. This letter will give firsthand information about the good work and will give such information in the language and with the outlook of a native Filipino who is in training to be a priest of Holy Church.

St. Andrew’s Theological Seminary
La Ignaciana Street
New Manila

Dear Friends,

The students of St. Andrew’s Theological Seminary extend their appreciation for your very generous interest in us.

With this interest I feel it proper to give you more information about us, our studies, our works, and other activities. There are twenty of us enrolled in the Seminary, seventeen of whom are Episcopalians and three are members of the Aglipayan or the Philippine Independent Church.

The day begins in the Seminary at 6:00 o’clock A.M. Morning Prayer, followed by Mass at 6:30. Immediately after Mass, we have a fifteen-minute meditation. Breakfast is served at 7:00 o’clock. We devote an hour after breakfast to our daily chores, such as cleaning our rooms, the Chapel and the Library, washing dishes and cleaning the surroundings. Classes begin at 9:00 o’clock to 11:40 A.M. We have the Angelus followed by intercession at 12:00 noon. Lunch is served at 12:30 noon and from this hour to 3:00 o’clock P.M. is our free hours. Then from 3:00 to 4:40 P.M. we have again classes. At 5:00 o’clock we have Vespers. Supper is served at 6:00 o’clock. At 7:00 to 10:00 P.M. is devoted to study. On Saturday we devote the whole morning for work in and out of the Seminary building. In the afternoon several of us go out to different parts of the city calling on our Church people who are either serving as soldiers in the Army, or as nurses in various hospitals or as students in the Universities. These calls include the visiting of any sick member of our Church. On Sundays, the only addition to our daily schedule of services is that we have Sung Mass at 8:30 A.M. Some of us on this day after our 8:30 Mass go to St. Luke’s Church to either teach at the Church School or to sing in the choir.

Christmas was joyously celebrated at the Seminary. On Christmas Eve, the students and some friends gathered before a beautifully decorated Christmas tree and sang Christmas hymns and carols. In addition gifts, which were very useful to the students especially in their devotions, were given out. The students also exchanged names and gave gifts to each other. This was followed and climaxed by the Midnight Mass.
Many of the students are from the Mountain Province and some are from Upi, Cotabato on the Island of Mindanao. I am one of those who came from Upi. I am not a native of the place, for my family originally came from San Juan, La Union on the Island of Luzon. We went down to Upi as settlers fifteen years ago and settled among the Tiruray tribes of Upi.

Many of us grew up in the country and we never had any experience of city life. We have had terrible time adjusting ourselves to our new environment. In our first few days in Manila, some of us got lost in the city. The city folks have always looked upon us as queer “Provincianos” which means country folks or people from the Provinces. Although at times we have been the subject of many an innocent joke because of our strange behaviour, nevertheless we took these as fun and we are really learning a lot from our mistakes and gaining more and more experiences from our contact with all sorts of people. Our experiences are even made more interesting when we liken ourselves to the Jews of old when they were led to captivity in Babylon and came in contact for the first time with a strange city people with their huge temples and many gods and more particularly with the strange ways of life the Babylonians lived. At first we had some sort of feeling that with all the noise and complexities of modern city life as compared to the simple, quiet country life that it would be difficult to realize God’s presence, but now we are getting used to all of these and we are now able to understand that God is even in the midst of this confusion and noise as He is everywhere.

Father Mandell tells from time to time how much he values your prayers for us and how helpful the members of the Parish have been to him in the support of our work. We know the vestments have been sent by the St Mary’s Guild and that many of the necessary things we need have been provided for by you. Many of these things could not have been provided in any other way. Also it has been very encouraging to us that some of you have helped with the support of two of the students.

If it is God’s will we hope that some of us will be ordained at the end of this school term.

We remember you in our prayers.

Very sincerely yours,

Benito Cabanban

SIDELIGHTS OF OLD ST MARY’S

It is difficult to think of St Mary’s as being old. There is a freshness, a kind of child-like delight in its pleasures, that permeates the atmosphere. In any satisfactory religion there must surely be much happiness; and one is conscious in St Mary’s of the air of pleasurable anticipation; each day is a bright adventure.

This probably has kept St Mary’s from growing old; and actually it is not old, as some other churches and cathedrals rate age, but the contents of the lead box which was deposited in the cornerstone bear testimony to the changes that time has wrought during the life of the Parish.

Beside the United States notes for 50c, 10c and 5c, we read of a copy of the Philadelphia Church Chronicle of 23rd September, 1868, and of a book entitled “Mary the Virgin”, by Rev. Dr. Seabury. A copy of “The Book of Hours, published in New York in 1866” was considered worthy of a place in the corner-stone; and one suspects it attained that honor by being the first such book published here.

Other articles in the box, however, are not so redolent of the past, and would probably be included in a church corner-stone today, with different dates. There was a copy of the Constitution and Canons of the Protestant Episcopal Church, Diocese of New York, for the year 1864; a copy of the Bible printed in Cambridge, England; the Book of Common Prayer, published by the New York Bible & Common Prayer Society in the year 1867, with hymns annexed bound in; and the Manual of The Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament, printed in 1868.

But by far the most important historical document placed in that box and buried in the corner-stone, although it was doubtless not so regarded at the time, was Father Brown’s article, “A Short History of the Foundation of the Parish of St Mary-the-Virgin New York City”. Short as it is, it would be too long to include in these inadequate notes, but it is interesting to quote the first paragraph, since it may well be called the real charter of the Parish; and it explains to a large extent why St Mary’s has grown from so very little to its present position.

“The result of several conversations between Mr Henry Kingsland Leonard and the Rev. Thomas McKee Brown, concerning the establishment of a Free Church in this City of New York, to be worked upon a thoroughly Catholic basis, was the receiving advice from the Bishop, who pointed out the locality where such a church would be most likely needed."

Thus, in a few simple words, is made clear the reason for the formation of the Parish. It was to be free; and in those days of exclusive churches and high pew rents, this was a bold adventure. St Mary's, at its birth, cut itself off from the principal source of revenue of city parishes. It was to be thoroughly Catholic, a still bolder adventure. It was to be placed where most likely needed, not where most likely to be attended by people who could support it.

As if these were not handicaps enough at the start of its career, the young Founder promised that the Parish would be "worked" upon a thoroughly Catholic basis. Notice the word worked; it is vastly significant. It is not the word that falls naturally into the context; it was not used as synonymous with established, for example. Father Brown used it because he meant just that. St Mary's was not intended to glide comfortably with the stream of wealth, or fashion, or conformity. It was created to be worked — and because it has been worked, at how great labor to how many people will never be known, it stands as it does today squarely on its thoroughly Catholic basis, a monument to the Glory of God.

PARISH NOTES

THE annual Parish Meeting at which are elected delegates to the Convention of the Diocese of New York will be held on Tuesday morning, April the sixth, at nine in Saint Joseph's Hall. Polls will remain open until nine-fifteen. Male communicants who regularly contribute to the support of the parish are eligible to vote.

THE Woman's Auxiliary will hold its Annual Meeting with election of officers on Friday morning, April the ninth, at ten forty-five, in Saint Joseph's Hall. Every woman of the parish is urged to attend this meeting to hear about the missionary work which has been done during the past year. Gifts for the Mission Table are always welcomed, these being sold for the benefit of the mission work of the Auxiliary.

The meeting will be preceded by a Corporate Communion at the nine-thirty Mass.

THE Spring meeting of the Guild of Help will be held at the residence of Mrs William C. Dickey, 123 East 53rd Street, on Thursday afternoon, April the twenty-second, at four. Sister Mary Josephine, S.H.N. will tell of the work continuously carried on at our Saint Mary's Mission House.

Afternoon tea will follow the meeting. It is earnestly hoped that the women of the parish, be they members of the Guild or not, will accept this notice as a warm invitation to attend the meeting.

We are happy to announce as the preacher at High Mass on Low Sunday, April the fourth, the Reverend Cuthbert A. Simpson, D. Th., D.D., Professor of Old Testament Literature and Interpretation, and Instructor in Hebrew at the General Theological Seminary. Father Simpson needs no introduction to the Saint Mary's congregation since he frequently celebrates Mass at our altars. Our appreciation is unbounded for his great help.

A MEMBER of the parish has kindly expressed his appreciation of many blessings received by giving a set of Altar Cards for use at the High Altar. We are indeed grateful.

Gratitude, too, is ours for the gift of an exceedingly beautiful set of green Low Mass vestments, richly embroidered and symbolic of the Blessed Trinity. These vestments were given in loving memory of three members of the donor's family. May they rest in peace!
