Dear Parishioners of St Mary's,—

Bishop Donegan has asked me to communicate to each and every member of the parish the situation confronting the Missionary Work of the whole Church and the various agencies of the Diocese of New York as well, if the parishes do not more nearly reach the quota assigned to them for missionary giving. Our gifts for these causes are made through the weekly pledge envelopes on the side marked in red “Weekly Offering for use outside the Parish, to meet our share of the Diocesan Expenses and for the General Work of the Church”.

Now I am gratefully aware of the fact that many of you are giving all that you possibly can, indeed your giving is often at the point of real sacrifice. However, I am sure that there are some who do not but could place offerings each week in the 'red' side of the envelope and that there are not a few who could place more in this side than originally planned. In the name of our blessed Lord, will you not take this matter into your prayers and give as generously as you can for the missionary work in the Diocese and throughout the whole Church. If the parishes, including Saint Mary's, do not increase their gifts for this missionary work, the Diocese of New York will fall short about thirty-eight percent in what it is asked to give to the missionary work of the whole Church and the work of the following Diocesan Agencies must be curtailed fifteen to fifty percent: Seamen's Church Institute, Church Mission to Deaf Mutes, City Mission Society, Board of Religious Education, Commission on Social Relations, Diocesan Commission on College Work, Girls' Friendly Society, Youth Consultation Service, Episcopal Service to the Aged, The Diocesan Missionary and Church Extension Society.
You will rejoice to learn that our Saint Mary's Guild has sent many, many sets of Mass Vestments to Missions in the Phillipines, Japan and Haiti but the value of these for some strange reason is never credited to our Quota. Then too, there have been several individual gifts of money sent to our Parish Missionary, Father Mandell, for his work at Saint Andrew's Seminary in Manila. Other gifts have been made from time to time for Missions, known only to God and recorded only in heaven! Perhaps this is as it should be!

You will also rejoice to learn that in reply to the inspiring appeal made last autumn by our Parish Treasurer many have increased their gifts to Saint Mary's knowing that Saint Mary's is definitely in need of greater income. It is good to be in need. It helps to keep us humble and generous, thank God, is ever the handmaid of humility.

The long and short of it is this,—those who love our blessed Lord and His Church will show their love not only by their faithfulness in the devotional and sacramental life but also by their generosity in giving for the support of the General Church, the Diocese and the home parish. May each of us be happy in our increasing generosity!

Affectionately,

Sincerely yours,

SACRAMENTALS

Holy Oils

CONTINUING with our series of articles on the Sacramentals of Holy Church, those outward practices whereby an interior blessing is offered to the faithful, we come to the consideration of Holy Oils. From very ancient times oil has figured prominently in religious ceremonials. This oil, generally speaking, has been olive oil since the olive tree has been rich in symbolism. As the cedar tree symbolizes strength and as the palm tree symbolizes victory, so the olive tree symbolizes peace, health, joy, growth, wealth and life. We are reminded of peace when we think of the famous olive twig brought by the dove to Noah in the Ark at the end of the Flood. Growth and life are depicted as the Psalmist exclaims "Thy children shall be like the olive branches round about thy table". The prophet Isaiah mentions the oil of joy. And always the olive tree has provided oil for food, medicine and fuel.

In the Old Testament days oil was mainly used by the Hebrews at the anointing of their priests, kings and prophets and of their sacred vestments and vessels as well. Indeed, the word Christ is, as we know, the Greek equivalent of the Hebrew word Messiah which means "The Anointed". Now our blessed Lord Jesus Christ declared that He had come into the Old Testament setting not to destroy but to fulfill" and we find that His closest followers, the Apostles, when making sick calls laid their hands on the sick and anointed them. Then too, we have in the Epistle General of Saint James the anointing of the sick completely described. In the ancient Christian service books, the use of oil is called for in the administration of the Sacraments of Holy Baptism, Holy Confirmation and Holy Order and in various dedications such as the consecration of altars, churches, sacred vessels, and so forth.

At the present day among Anglican Catholics oil is generally used in the administration of the Sacraments of Holy Confirmation and Holy Unction and occasionally used in the administration of the Sacraments of Holy Baptism and Holy Order. However, there is considerable caution exercised in the use of oil in the Sacrament of Holy Baptism, since when such was the common use Confirmation immediately followed Baptism, but now in the Western Church, both Anglican and Roman, Confirmation is separated from Baptism usually by several years. The use of Holy Oil in Holy Baptism according to some Catholic scholars presupposes Confirmation as well and therefore in present day Western use should be omitted. Holy Oil is used at the hallowing of a font, an altar, chalice and paten and churches. When Holy Oil is used, it is by a bishop or priest dipping his right thumb in the oil and making therewith the sign of the cross on the persons or things to be anointed or hallowed.

There are in the Church Catholic three kinds of oil used, or to put it more accurately, there are three distinct purposes for which the oil is used. There is the Oil of Catechumens, the Oil of Chrism and the Oil of the Sick. The Oil of Catechumens is used to anoint catechumens before actual baptism. This oil is also used to anoint priests at ordination and to anoint kings and queens at their coronation. The Oil of Chrism (olive oil mixed with balsam) is used for the Sacrament of Holy Confirmation and was formerly used immediately after Baptism when Confirmation immediately followed upon Baptism. The Oil of the Sick is used in administering the Sacrament of Holy Unction.

Now these three Holy Oils are normally consecrated by the Bishop of the Diocese at his Mass on Maundy Thursday. The Oil of the Sick is blessed at Mass before the Lord’s Prayer and the Oil of Catechumens and the Oil of Chrism are blessed after Mass. The three Holy Oils are then taken in the proper receptacles by the various parish priests to their parish churches to serve for the coming year. They are kept in a secure amby, or cupboard, and kept locked as a protection against fanatics. It is related that in the Ninth and Tenth Centuries malefactors often stole the Holy Oils in the belief that if they rubbed their bodies with the oil they would not be discovered or apprehended. Twentieth Century malefactors, thank God, are less superstitious! They have not attempted the theft of the Saint Mary’s Holy Oils!

The vessels containing the oils are properly initialed as follows: S.C. (Sanctum chrisma or Oil of Chrism), O.S. (Oleum sanctum or Oil of Catechumens), and O.I. (Oleum infirmorum or Oil of the Sick).

It should be mentioned that in an emergency the Oil of the Sick may be blessed by a priest in order that the Sacrament of Holy Unction may always be administered.

CONSERVE YOUR SPIRITUAL GAINS!

No one who has tried to keep a faithful Lent has failed to go forward in the spiritual life. However, we should be realistic enough to recognize that this advance is distasteful to our archfoes, — the world, the flesh and the devil, who would have us slip back. God, however, alone loves us and He would have us keep the spiritual joy we have acquired during Lent. To do so we must will to hold our spiritual advances.

To be sure, we do not keep to the fast of Lent or the Wednesday Lenten abstinence but we must keep to the spirit of discipline over our bodies. We must also conserve all the other gains made during the Lenten period of spiritual training. Let us therefore keep the gains made by an increasing number of communions, more regular confessions, more time given to prayer, meditation, Bible and other spiritual reading, more visits to the Blessed Sacrament, greater watchfulness against temptation, heightened patience with the feelings of others, deeper loving kindness exhibited to those in need and more generous giving to church and charity.

Waste is a sin and spiritual waste is the worst form of this sin. Oh let us not throw away our Lenten spiritual gains but make them become a new basis for further gains in seeking God’s Kingdom and His righteousness.

WELCOME HOME!

Father Wayland S. Mandell, Saint Mary’s parish missionary and Dean of Saint Andrew's Theological Seminary, Manila, The Philippines, is now in the United States on a greatly earned furlough. We expect to have the joy of hearing him tell of his work at High Mass on the Second Sunday after Easter, April the eighth. The following article prepared by Father Mandell for AVE will be of great interest to all of us who have been supporting him by our prayers and offerings:

“I left Manila for the United States on November fifth. When one takes a freighter, he is almost never sure of the exact date of sailing. I boarded the ship on a Saturday morning thinking that the ship was going to sail momentarily, but we did not leave until nearly twenty-four hours later. Unfortunately since there were no Churchmen aboard, I was unable to say Mass, and since I was afraid that the ship might leave without me I did not go ashore to assist or celebrate. All of the Seminarians and most of our household, composed of high school and university students, as well as the Bishop and other members of the staff, were at the ship to see me off. It was a very sad day for me, although one of the instructors said he did not see why it should be so, since I was only taking a leave of eight months. However, at the back of one’s mind at such a time as the present, there is the awareness that the international situation can very easily make return impossible.

"After a two day stay in Hong Kong, which to my mind is one of the most beautiful and orderly cities in the world, we went on to Japan. In Kobe I called on Bishop Yashiro, the Presiding Bishop of the Japanese Church. He put his car at my disposal and showed me as much of the work of the Church as he could in a short time. I was very much impressed by a new kindergarten and primary school he has just erected. It made me realize how far American dollars will stretch in present day Japan. This thoroughly adequate and substantial structure was built for only five thousand dollars. In the afternoon the Bishop arranged to have me driven to Osaka and then to Nara. In the evening we reached Kyoto. The Kobe-Osaka areas were thoroughly bombed and burned out during the war, but the recovery has been remarkable. Neither Nara nor Kyoto was destroyed in any way, thanks to the good judgment of the Armed Forces. The two cities are ancient capitals of Japan, and are therefore considered national treasures, and indeed, they are. They are full of beautiful temples and works of art. The Japanese I met seemed to be very grateful that these cities were spared.

"At Shimizu the customs officers boarded the ship as soon as we arrived. I was talking to one of the young men shortly after we arrived. I asked him how long he had been a customs officer and what he planned to do in the future. After a long pause he answered me, "The only thing I want to be is a good Christian." His answer startled me, and I inquired further and found that he had recently been instructed, baptized and confirmed in the Church. I have seldom seen anyone so earnest in his religion. In a letter which reached me shortly after Christmas he said, "Let us pray each other for us and all people especially Japanese and Korean. Every day I pray for you, all American, all students in St Andrew's Seminary in Manila." I am sure he wrote as he spoke, consulting his Japanese-English dictionary hoping to get his thoughts in good English.

"I was very much impressed by nearly everything I saw and heard in Japan. I was especially impressed by what I would call the near heroism (although I am sure they would not think of it in such a way) of the Japanese clergy in the face of great difficulties and poverty. One priest, I recall, was living on a salary of eleven dollars a month. I asked him if he was able to get along on this amount. He answered that he was doing very well. However, I noticed that his suit, although very clean, was well-worn and shabby. I discovered he was wearing his only suit which was a cast-off article from the United States and that his prospects for buying a new one were very slim. What pleased me most was that this priest was attacking his financial problem in terms of something far more important. He was not seeking outside employment, as so many priests have been forced to do, but he was working hard at the main business of the priesthood — strengthening and enlarging the Kingdom of God.

"During my stay in Japan I heard many expressions of appreciation for the vestments which have been given by the Guild of the parish of St Mary the Virgin. I knew from experience how grateful they were, because we in the Philippines who have received many fine sets of vestments have often expressed the same thought.

"Although I am now thousands of miles away from St Andrew’s Seminary, I am in close touch with it in spirit and by letter. Our big news is that Father Swift, the acting Dean, has just been elected Bishop of Puerto Rico. We rejoice with him on his election, but we shall be very sorry to lose him as a member of the Philippine Mission staff and as an instructor at St Andrew’s.

"With deep regret we are also losing another member of the staff, the Reverend Harold C. Spackman, when he retires in the spring. We are all praying for vocations to fill the vacancies and for the means to appoint new men.

"We continue to be grateful for the close tie binding St Andrew’s and the Church of St Mary the Virgin. You have helped splendidly in maintaining our work. The special gifts which members of the congregation have sent from time to time have helped immeasurably. I plan to be in New York in April, and I am looking forward to telling you about St Andrew's Seminary in person. With best wishes to you all, and God bless you."

PEACE BE UNTO YOU

It was evening and He came to them saying —
Peace be unto you.
To a little lost, affrighted group He came,
He, the Lord Almighty, resplendent in His Glory.
Oblivious to their base desertion
He laid His benison upon their troubled hearts —
Be not afraid 'tis I.
Oh, who but God Himself could be so kind!

Down through the ages comes the echo of His lovely message —
Peace be unto you!
Unworthy though we are, unfaithful now as then,
Yet His love speaks.
Piercing the darkness of our perturbed lives
The light of life Eternal shines upon us;
And God, our God, our Saviour, still calls to us —
Peace be unto you!

E. G. D.

The parochial treasurer of the Women's United Thank Offering, Mrs James R. English, reports that the total Advent Offering for the Diocese of New York amounted to $20,969.51 of which the women of Saint Mary's gave $216.95. We would remind the women of Saint Mary's that the United Thank Offering should be accepted as a happy obligation by every woman in the congregation. A letter is being sent out by Mrs English to each woman of Saint Mary's, enclosing a blue United Thank Offering mite box and a leaflet explaining the purpose and uses of this glad offering. It is to be devoutly hoped that many, many more of the Saint Mary's women will take an active part in the United Thank Offering. Gratitude which is not expressed dies!
