A MONTHLY BULLETIN OF THE
CHURCH OF SAINT MARY THE VIRGIN
NEW YORK

VOL. XXII
NOVEMBER, 1953
No. 8
Dear Parishioners of St Mary's,

I am sure that you would all agree that the greatest individual privilege afforded anyone of us is to go to Mass. In the main, there are three types of Masses offered at St Mary's each Sunday — Low Mass, Sung Mass and High Mass. We aim to please!

Those who like to attend a Mass quietly offered with simplified ritual and with no music will attend one of the Low Masses of which there are three every Sunday. Those who prefer to worship at a Mass at which the ritual is more elaborate and the entire congregation sings a simple setting of the Mass, interspersed with familiar hymns, will be present at the nine o'clock Sung Mass. This in a sense is a “Family Mass”, attended by the boys and girls of the Church School as well as many adults with the intriguing informality of a congregation thus composed. There is an equally informal and very brief talk given at the close of this Mass. Then again, those who rejoice in worshipping at the formal High Mass, celebrated in a setting of the Church's ancient ritual and her best liturgical music, with the addition of a Gospel sermon, will be present at the eleven o'clock hour. The formality of this High Mass protects the worshippers from any individual emphasis and permits them to lose all sense of self importance, too often prevalent in worship, and to be caught up into the beauty of the whole and so to be “lost in wonder, love, and praise”. There are those too who are so Catholic, God bless them, that they are happy in attending any one or all three of these types of Masses.

Why does St Mary's advertise “Catholic Worship — Gospel Preaching — Liturgical Music”? Worship of the Holy Catholic Church of the ages is offered in the Holy Mass to those attending.
The "Good News" revealed by Jesus Christ, God Incarnate, is proclaimed from the pulpit in Gospel sermons. The music of the Church composed by Christian musicians of many periods and representing many nationalities is the only music used for the setting of our worship.

We aim to please God first, with only a passing nod to the preferences of the worshippers in the congregation. We are confident that you believe this is as it should be.

Affectionately yours

Please note that the alphabetical designations for these Requiem Masses refer to the last names of the individuals sending in the lists for remembrance, not to the names of the faithful departed. Thus you may know when your names will be read.

If the hour designated proves to be an impossible one for you to attend, kindly specify at which Mass on the schedule you prefer to have your names read.

WHEN I AM LONELY

Do you ever feel lonely? Of course you do if after the manner of a Christian you live in the world and yet not of the world. Indeed your loneliness in Christian living reflects something of the loneliness of Jesus, Son of God and Son of man, of whom it is written “He was in the world and the world was made by Him and the world knew Him not. He came unto His own and His own received Him not”. Oh, the loneliness of the Incarnate Lord!

Well, once we recognize that we are citizens of the Kingdom of Heaven and therefore strangers and pilgrims here on earth, once we go into action over our heavenly citizenship which began when at our baptism at the font we were made one with Christ the King of Heaven, then our loneliness will leave us. As one with Christ we are members of His mystical Body the Church and all other baptized Christians are likewise members of that mystical body and therefore all such are our friends in Christ. When a Christian ends a friendly letter with “Sincerely yours in Christ” he not only acknowledges the fact that his best friendship is because Christ is his Friend but he also implies that the one addressed in the letter has millions of other friends though most of them will never address a letter to him. There is really no such thing as loneliness for a Christian.

By the same token, when we pray we pray in harmony with countless numbers of others if we pray as Christians. One of the reasons why it is not possible for a true Christian to be satisfied with saying only private prayers at home is that as a member of the mystical body of Christ, the Christian Church, he must take his place among fellow members of that Church in corporate prayer and worship. Now the corporate prayer of the Church is offered in her services of common worship, that is, her liturgy, of which the greatest is the Holy Mass. Thus it is that we go to church to have our privileged part in offering the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass in company with other members of the congregation equally privileged. No loneliness here!

What is more, every Mass is offered by the whole membership of the mystical body of Christ since even geographical distance cannot divide that body for Christ cannot be divided. The next time you come to Mass remember that your fellow Christians the world over are offering that very Mass along with you since the Mass is the offering of the whole body of the faithful. At the Mass Jesus is offering Himself to the Father and all Christians, that is all branches of Him who is the Vine, are sharing in that offering since it is only in a state of unforgiven mortal sin that the faithful could lose that privilege and be cut off from the Vine. No loneliness here!

Then too, inasmuch as most of the members of the mystical body of Christ are either in purgatory or heaven itself, the faithful departed and the saints in glory are offering Mass along with us who are yet on our earthly pilgrimage. Our union with them is through the bond of prayer, especially that highest form of prayer which is the Sacrifice of the Mass. No loneliness here!

Again, the good angels, who have for all time and without any possibility of subsequent defection set their wills into harmony with the will of God, join with the other members of the family of God in worshipping and adoring as the Sacrifice of the Mass is offered. Yes, “therefore with angels and archangels and with all the company of heaven we laud and magnify Thy glorious name”. No loneliness here, for myriads of the hosts of heaven are with us at Mass!

Now we Christians in the Creed profess our belief in the Communion of Saints. This is no mere formal doctrine of Holy Church but rather a fact that can be brought to life in our daily pilgrimage. All of the saints, that is all of those who, whether in this life or the next, are striving to unite themselves with our blessed Lord in answering the call to holiness are linked to one another by a disinterested charity in a community of possessions and joys. Really to believe in the Communion of Saints is to leap out of egotism into disinterested love. The words my and mine go out of the window, for union with Christ leads to union with all the members of His body in which a common heritage may be shared equally by all. So it happens that we become interested in all of our fellow Christians and in their progress and, by the same token, we become troubled about any of our fellow Christians who are in a state of retrogression. The point is that we are concerned about others and we rejoice that others are always concerned about us, including our Lady and our patron saint and our guardian angel. Believing in the communion of saints we can never feel downcast or forsaken. We can never be lonely. Rather we can rejoice and sing:

“O blest Communion! Fellowship divine!
We feebly struggle, they in glory shine,
Yet all are one in Thee, for all are Thine.

Alleluia.”

SONNET ON DEATH

Death, be a friend to me, brush me gently
With your sleeve, until I learn to believe
Your arm can comfort rather than bereave,
Then — let me lean upon it peacefully.

Death, come swift to me, tearing not one part
From the core of my totality. Sweep
Thou over me — do not tantalize — but leap
And strike a single blow, taking my heart.

Death, friend to me, come compassionately;
Push the clouds, so they lift and move aside
The pain, and raise me to another sphere,
And when the darkness slowly covers me
With quiet and repose, then let the clouds slide
From under me; 'till that time, Death, be near.

CHRISTIAN SACRIFICE (1)

SACRIFICE is one of the basic concepts, one of the fundamental ideas of the Christian religion, as it is of most religions. It has therefore been the subject of much controversy and of an enormous amount of misunderstanding.

In spite of such conservative influences as school-teachers, dictionaries and classical literature; any word in any language that is in constant use over a considerable period of time undergoes changes in meaning as well as in spelling, pronunciation and in the area of its use. It will become more general or more specific, vaguer or more exact. It will shade off in this direction when used by theologians, in that when used by novelists, and in still another when used by the man in the street. Not infrequently it will end up with a meaning substantially the opposite of that which it was coined to have.

The word “sacrifice” which has a history of centuries and millenia of use in two languages, Latin and English, is no exception to this principle although, as Father Yerkes points out in his recent book on the subject, it was coined to have a very specific meaning and to be used only in the field of religion. (The ancient Latins and early English never used it in everyday secular language.) We find it in use today in every sphere of life, especially the commercial and social spheres; and used there with a connotation that is almost directly opposed to its original religious meaning.

It is no wonder, then, that the specifically religious ideas of the Sacrifice of Christ, the Sacrifice of the Mass, and the Christian duty of sacrifice are widely misunderstood and are the subjects of bitter controversy. It will be my purpose in future articles in AVE this year to deal with these three ideas and to demonstrate as far as possible in a brief space their original and traditional meaning according to the teaching of the New Testament and the mind of the Church. Much, perhaps all, the misunderstanding and controversy has arisen through applying the modern and secular meaning of sacrifice to the original and religious idea. The result is confusion of ideas and of terms; and our first step must be to clear up this confusion.

This is not really very difficult once we look at the facts. Begin by dividing the word in two: sacri-fice. The first half is the same word as “sacred”, and means something that is holy, devoted, dedicated or set apart for God. The second part comes from a Latin word which means to make or set apart. And so the whole means “to make holy”, or “to sanctify”; that is, to give something to God for Him to use as He will. How different this is from the modern secular meaning of sacrifice as something that is not given to anyone, least of all to God; but is simply given up, destroyed.

The original users of the term sacrifice would have been completely mystified by “Fire sales” with everything “sacrificed” at prices below cost, or by the statements that we read in a certain type of newspaper that someone has made the “supreme sacrifice” by throwing his life away. They would have been puzzled because these are negative and purely destructive ideas, whereas religious sacrifice is a positive act of dedication to God. In this connection Father Yerkes points out the great difference between the ancient and modern attitudes toward sacrifice. To the man of the present day sacrifice is a regrettable if necessary action, purely destructive, to be avoided if possible, and always accompanied by sadness. To the ancient (and this was equally true of the pagan and the Jew as well as the Christian) it was an act of religious generosity, full of joy — not giving up, that is, an act of destruction; but giving to God. More often than not it was an act of thanksgiving (a eucharist) for some great benefit received.

These are the ideas — generosity, thanksgiving, joy, dedication to God — which are characteristic of the idea of sacrifice as it was taken over by our Lord and His Church and was expanded and given fuller meaning and expression by them.

Once it is clear that these ideas, and not destruction and sadness are basic to the Christian doctrine of sacrifice, it will not be hard to discover the true meaning of the Sacrifice of the Cross, the Sacrifice of Mass, and the Christian duty of sacrifice.

PARISH NOTES

TWO men, not parishioners of St Mary's, but deeply grateful for all that this parish offers to its many visitors, noticed several months ago that the Shrine of the Sacred Heart was in great need of redecoration. These men generously offered to make such adornment possible as an anonymous gift and thank offering. In the late summer the Shrine of the Sacred Heart was restored to its appropriate beauty. We all deeply appreciate the fine devotion that prompted these men to such genuine generosity.

ALL Souls' Day, Monday November the second, we shall observe with a High Mass of Requiem and Absolution of the Dead at twelve noon when a brief address will be given by Father Taber. Low Masses of Requiem will be celebrated in the Chapel of Our Lady of Mercy at seven, eight and nine-thirty. Let us not forget that it is one of the spiritual acts of mercy to pray for the dead and let us not forget those words of our blessed Lord "Blessed are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy."

OUR customary Friday night Bible Class has been happily turned into a School of Religion with Father Bosshard giving valuable teaching on the origin of Christian Theology. It is a good custom to set aside your Friday nights for instruction and worship. Do come to the School of Religion at seven-thirty and bring your friends and remain for the Devotional Service and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at eight-fifteen. The evening always closes by nine o'clock.

THE Day Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary meets in St Joseph's Hall Friday afternoon, November the twentieth at three-thirty at which time the Reverend Prescott L. Laundrie, Chaplain of the Sea View Hospital, Staten Island, will give a talk. Those present will enjoy tea from four to six. Articles made by the women during the summer will be on display and some of these articles will be given for the work at Sea View Hospital. Christmas cards, wrappings, etc., will be on sale at the Mission Table. All women of the parish are most cordially invited to be present. There will have been a Corporate Communion of the members of the Auxiliary at the nine-thirty Mass that morning, a Requiem Mass for the departed members of the Auxiliary.

The Evening Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary will hold its meeting on Monday evening, November the sixteenth, at seven-thirty preceded by a Dutch Treat dinner at Child's, Seventh Avenue near Forty-ninth Street, at six. All business and professional women of the parish are most cordially invited to attend both dinner and meeting. The monthly Corporate Communion of the Evening Branch will have been held at the nine o'clock Mass on Sunday, November the first.

THE Advent United Thank Offering of the women of the Church will be presented at the Cathedral of St John the Divine at the ten-thirty Mass on Tuesday, December the first. Contributions should be sent to the parish custodian of the U.T.O., Mrs. Charles Edgar, 215 West 13th Street, New York City 11, or given to her on Sunday, November the twenty-ninth, after the High Mass at Saint Mary's. All the women of the parish are invited to attend the Mass at the Cathedral, following which there will be a box luncheon in the Undercroft.

AN exceedingly beautiful superfrontal of rare Italian lace has been given for St Joseph's Altar in loving memory of Helène S. Stursberg. May she rest in peace!

THE members of the congregation are invited to a series of organ recitals to be given in the church on Monday evenings, November 9, 16, 23, and 30 at eight-thirty.

AS a parish family we gather on Thanksgiving Day, November the twenty-sixth at High Mass at eleven to render our humble and joyful thanks to Almighty God for the many undeserved blessings and graces that He has bestowed on us. Father Taber will give a brief sermon at this High Mass.

ADVANCE notice is given of the Advent Retreat for Men and Women which is being conducted on Saturday, December the twelfth by Father Gunn of the Order of the Holy Cross.
