Dear Parishioners of St Mary's,

I am writing this letter under orders, though I carry out the orders gladly. In the Prayer Book at the end of the Order for the Visitation of the Sick I am ordered to advise you while still “up and able to have your beds made” to make your wills wherein you will arrange for the disposition of your temporal goods, not forgetting bequests for religious and charitable purposes. There is no more fitting a time for carrying out these orders than at the beginning of a new civil year when your Government also under orders reminds you of your share in her expenses.

A will is a sacred document, especially so when it is made in gratitude to Almighty God, according to one's own free will and for the perpetuation of works pleasing to God. The individual making a will trusts in God's mercy on his soul, provided that he himself is merciful. Yes, “blessed are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy”. Such an individual delights in making provision for the support of the corporal and spiritual works of mercy through his church and through some one or more of the charitable organizations which exist primarily for the extension of mercy to those in any affliction.

Don't allow this month to pass without having made your will. Indeed, remember your parish church which is your happy spiritual home while here on your earthly pilgrimage. Remember, too, to provide for the extension of God's merciful care through some charity which He would bless.

Affectionately yours,

Dear Friends at St Mary’s,

There has been no let-up in activity at the Seminary since the opening of the 1953-1954 year last July. The erection of the buildings has been the chief concern and interest. I am happy to say that they are nearly completed and that we shall be able to move into our new quarters in another three weeks. If it were not for the examination period at the end of the first semester, which we are about to begin, we would be able to move next week. From the appearance of the buildings and from what the contractor says, the buildings will be finished in a few days. There are two buildings of good size in white concrete connected by a covered and enclosed passage, and there is a long recreation room, which we shall use temporarily for a Chapel until the crypt of the new cathedral is ready for use, adjoining the second building. Off the recreation room is my residence, the larger rooms of which are shared with the single members of the Faculty. In addition, and on a lower level, is a fine building for employees of which we are very proud. Not always in the Orient are adequate provisions made in even the finest establishments for employees. Therefore this building is something to be proud of.

I was able to move into my new quarters over a month ago. It was a great relief to get out of the old building, which I have always described as closely related to a furnace with its iron exterior, low ceilings, small rooms (7’ by 12’) and cramped atmosphere. The new quarters have a large living room and dining room combined. It is a room that is completely open from floor to ceiling on two sides with only screen for walling. Sliding shutters banked at each end of the room can be drawn across the open spaces for protection in bad weather. It is one of the pleasantest rooms one could have in this climate.

Since the temperature has not fallen below eighty-four degrees during the day for many months and seldom below eighty at night, one can imagine how a room of this kind might be appreciated. In another two months everyone in Manila will describe himself as chilly. The temperature will go down as low as from sixty-eight to seventy degrees at night. During a very cold snap it may reach sixty-five degrees. On such mornings some of the members of the Faculty may be seen kneeling in Chapel with a lightweight woolen cloak over their cassocks, or if not that, they may have a sweater underneath. The cool season seems rather remote now. As I write I am sitting in the inner office, with as little clothing on as is possible and still remain within the bounds of convention, waiting for warning from the outer office when visitors appear.

The presiding Bishop and Mrs Sherrill made a visit to the Philippines in the latter part of September. They were in Manila for a little less than a week. Since their time was limited, they visited only the Manila area. At this season of the year when typhoons may come at any time and block the roads it is not wise to travel out of Manila if one is trying to keep an airplane schedule. Bishop Sherrill visited the Seminary for the greater part of an afternoon and evening. He inspected the new buildings, looked through the old buildings, saw the site of the new St Luke’s hospital and new Cathedral of St Mary and St John, preached at Evensong and had a buffet supper with the students and Faculty in my new quarters. The genial and gracious manner of both Bishop and Mrs Sherrill enabled them to make quick friends of the students. It was one of the pleasantest evenings we have had in a long time.

A very sad accident has taken a good bit of my time recently and has been a cause of great concern. Our pick-up truck in which I was riding, but not driving, ran over and killed a three-year-old child just after dusk immediately following a heavy rain. It was a very sad experience. Fortunately the case against the Seminary has just been settled by the insurance company and the case against the driver dismissed, but the effects of the accident will remain for a long time, especially for the parents of the child and for our chauffeur, who is the father of three young children.
This year has seen another increase in our enrollment. In July there were forty-one students enrolled. According to the present rate of increase it will not be long before the new building will be filled.

A generous gift from one of the members of St Mary's congregation has just been received. I wish to express the gratitude of all of us at the Seminary. This gift is most welcome in helping to provide furnishings for the new buildings.

Prayers go up regularly for the Parish and congregation of St Mary, as we continue to remember the benefactors of the Seminary each Saturday. There are many private prayers as well offered for the interest, friendship and prayers of all at St Mary's.

Sincerely yours,

WAYLAND S. MANDELL

WHEN I AM IGNORANT

Are you ignorant? Honestly, are you? Well, you need not be. There are a great many lapsed Christians in Christ's Mystical Body, the Church. They have slipped away from a joyful religion because they have not known the basis for their joy. They have been satisfied with being nominally Christian - Christian because their parents and friends are Christian. Their religion has been distinctly secondhand and it is terribly easy to slip away from secondhand religion. They have discovered no reason for the hope that is in them by virtue of their baptism and so this baptismal gift of hope remains dormant and unused. The situation is sad when it might be joyful.

Now it is necessary to know God and His revealed religion before you can love Him and serve Him in that religion. Do you know what the will of God is? You can find out by steeping yourself in Christ's holy Gospel which reveals that will in crystal clear fashion. Do you know the Catholic Faith, the Christian Faith of the ages? You can get acquainted with it in the teaching of the undivided Church of the first eleven centuries of this Christian era. Do you know what it means to enjoy Catholic living? This you can experience if you will live by a well-planned and sane Rule of Life that will challenge you to enrichment of devotion to God, discipline of self and service to your fellow men.

Our blessed Lord gave the Apostles three years of intensive training in knowing God and then He sent the Holy Ghost to empower them for loving service. The same Lord and Saviour gives most of us a normal life time in which to get to know something of the wisdom that comes from on high, namely, revealed religion. This we may get to know through the Gospel, silent prayer, books and tracts on Catholic Faith and Practice, sermons, instructions, and best of all quiet visits to the Blessed Sacrament. Light streams from the Tabernacle!

OUR LADY OF WALSINGHAM

We are deeply indebted to one of our faithful communicants, Frederick W. Ross, who as a labor of love has painted and presented to St Mary's a mural of Our Lady of Walsingham which has been set in the third bay of the south aisle. The mural portrays Our Lady enthroned and surrounded by the symbolic flames of the Holy Ghost. In one hand she holds the Infant Christ, clutching a book in His left hand while His right hand is raised in blessing. In the other hand she holds a scepter as in the statute at Walsingham, England. On the lower steps of the throne are two shields, one depicting the Holy House and the other showing the Blessed Virgin instructing Richeldis to build a replica of the Holy House. The mural is done in the mood of an illuminated manuscript and painted in a semi-stylized manner. Mr Ross is an artist of no mean repute and it has been his great joy to place this mural in a church that carries on its worship and work under our Lady's patronage.

In the year 1061 Our Lady appeared to Richeldis de Faverches, Lady of the Manor of Walsingham, and showed her a model of the house in which the Angel Gabriel announced to her that she should become the Mother of our Lord and in which the Holy Family had lived after their return from their exile in Egypt. She asked Richeldis to build a house just like it in Walsingham in honor of the Mystery of the Incarnation, promising that as a sign of God's favor a spring of clear water would burst forth. Richeldis built the house and also a chapel on the spot where the spring of water suddenly appeared and in the chapel she placed a statue of Our Lady as she had seen her. This became the House of Our Lady of Walsingham, England's Nazareth. The waters of the miraculous spring were found to have healing qualities. Pilgrims flocked there from everywhere. The original Shrine was destroyed by the wicked Henry VIII, but it was restored by Anglican Catholics and today the mystery of the Incarnation is highly honored and revered in Walsingham by Catholics — Anglican and Roman and Eastern Orthodox.

CHRISTIAN SACRIFICE (3)

We have seen that the death of the Victim is the necessary preliminary to the offering of a Sacrifice. Once this is understood, it is less difficult to understand why we are told in the New Testament that the Father was willing for the Incarnate Son to die. His love for sinful men was so great that He willed their salvation even at the price of the death of Jesus. Our Lord's will was, of course, perfectly conformed to the will of the Father and so it was by His will, too, that He offered the "full, perfect, and sufficient sacrifice, oblation, and satisfaction, for the sins of the whole world." To refer back to what we said in former articles about sacrifice, this was His act of generosity.

It is a fundamental doctrine of Christianity that the sins of the world can be taken away only by the sacrifice of God become man, the Incarnate Son. This is the doctrine of the Atonement. It is the fulfillment of the universal moral law that it is impossible for souls to be redeemed without cost. And man is incapable of paying the cost.

How is this? Man can't pay the cost? The modern pagan often has a good deal of spunk, if no religion, and will proclaim loudly that he knows what he is doing and is willing to take the consequences of his actions. There may be a universal moral law, but he feels quite capable of dealing with it by himself. The sad fact is that he doesn't know either what he is doing, or what the consequences will be. Still less is he able to deal with the moral law.

All too often people forget that they didn't create themselves and that they have a personal responsibility to, and a personal relationship with, their Creator. Now the Creator is an infinite Being and therefore perfectly righteous and true, just and merciful. It is obvious that the creature owes such a Creator perfect love and obedience. Sin is disobedience and a denial of this love. What can man do to "pay the price of sin" if he has turned his back upon God? He can turn back again and give his whole love and obedience to God, you say? But can he? The whole weight of human experience throughout all ages shows that he can't, that he doesn't of himself have the strength to do so. And even if he could, does that atone for past sin? No, for he already was obliged to do that anyway even if he hadn't sinned. And is God just going to write it off and charge it to operating expense? He can't, else what would become of the moral law and any concept of justice? As St Paul says, "Shall we continue in sin, that grace may abound? God forbid." This is the dilemma in which man finds himself. It is too much for him, but it was not too much for God and His love for His creation. He sent His Only-begotten Son into the world, for "There was no other good enough to pay the price of sin."

And the reason is very simple if we put it into every-day terms. There is a debt to be paid. It is man's debt and only right that he should pay it. But only God can pay it. Therefore it must be paid by one who is both God and man. Furthermore, since He is a man,.create He owes it to His Creator to live a life of perfect love and obedience Himself, and so He must offer something else in payment of the debt of others. This something else is His life which He generously and lovingly offers "for the sins of the whole world." And it is a sufficient sacrifice because it is the life of one who is both God and man and is therefore of infinite value.

One can see from just this one example how all Christian dogmas are bound up in each one. For example: How necessary it is that our Lord be just one single person and at the same time perfect God from all eternity, and perfect man, body, soul and spirit. Without these facts there could be no doctrine of the Atonement. One can see also how many more questions are raised as we go more deeply into the doctrine of sacrifice, such as: How do we make this sacrifice of His to be ours? or, Does man need to offer anything of his own if Christ paid it all? But they must be left for the future articles.

— E. B.
THE DESIRE TO LIVE
Not for fear of death,
Heavenly Father, do I pray to live;
Nor for any worthiness of my own.
I pray to live because
LIFE is Thy Divine purpose
Which I must strive to fulfill.
I pray to live, not to receive
Salvation but to earn it
In love and compassion.

PARISH NOTES

THE truly Christian way to begin the New Year is to be present at Holy Mass on the Feast of the Circumcision (New Year’s Day). Low Masses are celebrated at 7, 8, 9 and 10, with High Mass and a brief address by Father Taber at 11.

THE Feast of the Epiphany, January the sixth, is one of the festivals of our blessed Lord. High Mass will be celebrated at noon when a brief address will be given by Father Taber. Low Masses will have been celebrated at 7, 8, 9:30.

OUR Presiding Bishop, the Right Reverend Henry Knox Sherrill, has designated Sunday, January the twenty-fourth, as a day of offerings for the support of theological education in our Seminaries. On that Sunday, you will find in the pews special envelopes for an offering for the training of future priests. We are happy in having as preacher that day a godly trainer of priests, Father Simpson, Professor of Literature and Interpretation of the Old Testament at the General Theological Seminary.*

WE are most grateful to the members of the Guild of St Mary of the Cross who have presented the parish with a most practical gift, namely, a complete supply of beautiful plastic dishes for our use at communion breakfasts, retreat luncheons, etc. We are told that cigarettes permanently stain plastic dishes and we are therefore warning any who are careless with cigarettes that they will be dealt with in definitive fashion thereby showing our active gratitude for the gift.

DO you value AVE? If so, will you make a contribution towards the expenses of printing and mailing? AVE is nearly self-supporting and we should like to welcome the day when it becomes entirely so through your generous response.

THE Evening Branch of the Woman’s Auxiliary will meet in St Joseph’s Hall, Monday evening, January the eighteenth, at seven-fifteen. A special program will be presented by Miss Muriel Van Reed, Evening Branch United Thank Offering Chairman. The guest speaker will be Mrs Harold Pim, United Thank Offering Treasurer for the Diocese of New York. All women of the parish are cordially invited. A Dutch Treat dinner at six at Child’s, 46th Street and Broadway, will precede the meeting. The monthly Corporate Communion of the Evening Branch will have been held at the nine o’clock Mass, Sunday, January the fourth.
