Dear Parishioners of St Mary's,—

Will each of you lead someone one person to the Sacrament of Holy Confirmation this year? The Bishop of New York has appointed the evening of the Fourth Sunday in Lent, March the twentieth, for the administration of this Sacrament here at St Mary's.

There is someone waiting for you to pray him into the receiving of the gift of the Holy Spirit in Confirmation. This someone is waiting too for you to invite him to come to church with you on the six Sunday evenings preceding Confirmation for a few general instructions on the fundamentals of Catholic and Christian Belief and Practice. This someone will be invited to receive additional individual instruction in which he may think out aloud, with help, the truths taught by our Incarnate Lord. But this someone is waiting for YOU to get him started and our blessed Lord is counting on YOU not to leave him stranded. Do not fail our dear Lord who would share His redemptive love with ALL.

The Sunday night instructions will be given as usual in the place of the sermon at the regular Sunday evening services at eight. The schedule of these instructions is as follows: February sixth, "The Catholic Idea of God"; February thirteenth, "The Catholic Idea of Man"; February twentieth, "The Catholic Idea of the Church"; February twenty-seventh, "The Power of Prayer"; March sixth, "The Power of Confession"; March thirteenth, "The Power of the Mass." Come, and bring at least one other person with you.

For yourselves I beg of you not to allow the holy season of Lent to come upon you unawares. Ash Wednesday this year is February the twenty-third. Holy Church gives us a pre-Lenten season, beginning with Septuagesima Sunday, February the sixth, for a prayerful period of preparation when we should all be formulating our Lenten Rules of Christian living, — rules that will take us more apart from the world and from self and into closer union with God, rules that will emphasize the life of the soul and minimize the life of the body. As usual, I am printing elsewhere a few suggestions for our individual Lenten Rules. You may wish to take some or all of these suggestions, but if they strike you as insufficient guides for your spiritual progress then make your own better rules. But be sure to make them. May your Lent be a holy and therefore a very happy season!

Affectionately yours

SUGGESTIONS FOR LENT

1. Receive Holy Communion at least once a week and attend at least one weekday Mass in addition to attendance at Mass each Sunday. (A most happy life is that of Daily Mass.)
2. Make your confession at least on Shrove Tuesday and again before Easter Day.
3. Give up one favorite sin.
4. Attend the Stations of the Cross each Friday evening.
5. Fast on each of the forty days of Lent by limiting yourself to a light breakfast, one full meal and one half meal.
6. Abstain from meat on Wednesdays as well as Fridays.
7. Deny yourself some favorite pleasure, adding the money you would thus have spent to your Easter Offering.
8. Spend at least a half hour each day in Bible reading, meditation and spiritual reading.
9. Make frequent, if not daily, visits to the Blessed Sacrament.
10. Try to convert someone else to living in the glorious light and the spiritual strength of the Catholic Faith.
11. At the close of each day examine yourself on the basis of this Rule, begging forgiveness for any thorn you may have added to Jesus' crown and seeking His grace to persevere on the morrow.

12. Break the bounds of this Rule by generously responding to God's love.

SHROVE TUESDAY CONFESSIONS

SHROVE TUESDAY, February the twenty-second, is Shriving Day, none other, and your priests will hear confessions according to the following schedule:

Father Taber: 11-1; 2-3; 5-6; 8-9.
Father Bosshard: 12-1; 4-6; 8-9.
Father Schuman: 11-12; 3-5; 7-8.

ASH WEDNESDAY

Ashes for remembrance: comes the time
Sooner than we realize perhaps,
When all time stands still; life's pantomime
Concluded, these poor members merely scraps
Of bone and flesh and skin, ashes to ash,
Dust particles to dust, nobility
Brought down in shame, returned to nature's cache
To wait new Purpose in tranquility.
The voice: "remember man that dust thou art,
To dust thou shalt return!" O Lord of Life,
Deliver us from sudden death apart
From Grace: defend us in the time of strife!
And may this Imposition of death's kin
Turn us away from fleshly greed and sin!

JOYFUL SPIRITUAL PROGRESS

Through Discipline

All too rarely do people associate joy with discipline and yet both go happily together. Let us begin this consideration by imprinting on our hearts those treasured words of Jesus "If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow Me." Our greatest joy as Christians lies in following Christ. However, by His own word we cannot follow Him save along the path of the discipline of self-denial and cross-bearing.

Most people shrink from discipline because they choose to believe that it is a negative thing. But such belief is far from the truth. Discipline is a positive thing and it releases positive power for right living.

What is discipline? It is all sorts of things. It is education, it is training, it is drill, it is subjection to rule, it is the habit of obedience, it is correction. What is more, it is the Church’s system of essential duties and also rules that set forward the carrying out of those duties. Indeed, discipline is fighting self-exaltation and the putting in its place the genuine life dedicated to Christ and nourished by His sacrifice whereby under discipline we may grow up into Him. Discipline is not fanatical self-torture which too frequently exalts self nor is it a Puritanical scorn of innocent pleasures which too often smacks of self-righteousness. No, the motive behind discipline is a very high motive. Discipline is practised by truly devout Christians either as a penance, that is, self-punishment for past sins, or as a testimony of love through the dethronement of self, or as fulfillment of the heart’s longing to share in the sufferings of the Redeemer.

Now the truth of the matter is that in each of us there are two lives, the life according to man and the life according to God; the life of the old Adam which is the life of sin and the life of the new Adam which is the life of righteousness in union with Christ Jesus. How well we know that the old man of sin is a very tough enemy. He will not die beneath one blow but rather he must be taken captive by the siege of a life time. This siege is best described by the discipline of mortification, — the discipline which if kept alive gradually kills the old man in us. By this discipline we mortify or kill our corrupt natures. And this is strenuous fun!

Incidentally, the discipline of mortification does much to prevent the upsurge of neuroses which, alas, gain prominence from an unhealthy emphasis on self. You see mortification is renouncing of the disorderly satisfaction of our desires while at the same time it places restraint on an inordinate exercise of our faculties. It keeps our intellects under control by curbing our curiosity for news. We are so like the ancient Athenians described by St Paul as they who “spent their time in nothing else but either to tell or to hear some new thing.” It keeps our wills in check by letting others have their way in unimportant matters. It leads to indifference to things for its purpose is the restoration of God as King even while the displacement of self hurts. But the pain of self-effacement is a joyful one, inasmuch as it leads to the rectifying of the disorder caused by the enthronement of self.

How are we to engage in discipline and mortification? Well, Holy Church has a training schedule for us. She has set forth her days of fasting and abstinence. She suggests to us a rigid fast before receiving Holy Communion. In her theology she makes the body the servant of the soul. She has her precepts concerning confession and communion and marriage and Mass attendance and almsgiving and all the rest. She requires in many ways that her children keep in training so that by enduring hardness they may become good and happy soldiers of the Cross of Christ her Lord. She prepares them for the steep ascent into heaven, and yet her children so often accept her doctrine and her worship while they refuse her discipline. Yes, they inject sadness into what would otherwise be joyful Christian living.

Our holy religion, though a religion of discipline, is not an iron yoke because the discipline frees us for the happy leap from self to God. St Aloysius, on entering his novitiate, remarked “I am a piece of twisted iron. I enter the religious life to be hammered straight”. Well, we may not have the vocation to the religious life, but we all have the vocation to follow Christ and in that following we need to be hammered straight through discipline. This hammering process need not terrify us for it does not mean we shall lose our imaginations so necessary for growth or our free wills so necessary for liberty. It means rather the death of whatever is sinful in our imaginations and wills so that we may do what Christ would do in our place. Oh, may we welcome discipline! If we do we shall find our joy for we shall be like unto those described by the Prophet Isaiah as so empowered that "they shall renew their strength: they shall mount up with wings as the eagles: they shall run, and not be weary: and they shall walk, and not faint”. What joyful progress!

WHAT ABOUT GOD? (5)

We know now that God is a Person and next we ask what kind of a person He is. It is important to keep in mind that everything we say in answer to this is said about a real person and not about an abstraction. And then we can go ahead and say, He is a simple and unchangeable person.

As I look at that last sentence, it seems to sound faintly derogatory, but that’s only because we have once more run into the changeabeleness of words. To say that God is simple doesn't mean that He is stupid, for we are not referring to His mind but to His Being. It means, principally, that He is one and indivisible. As an old definition puts it, "He has no body, parts, or passions." Nothing can be separated from Him and He cannot be cut up into pieces, and nothing can be added to Him, either.

In fact, God doesn't "have" anything in any sense of that word. The only verb that can properly be used about Him is some form of the present tense of the verb, "to be". He is, and He is this or that, completely and unchangeably. Let me illustrate. We say that this man is good, or that man is wise; and what we mean is that the first has the quality of goodness, and the second has the quality of wisdom. These virtues are quite distinct and separable from the men themselves. If a man has them, he may lose them; and if he doesn't, they may be added to him and he may acquire one or both. Or the good man may not be wise and the wise man may not be good. The first man may yield to temptation and become evil; the second may grow old and senile and become foolish.

Since man is not a simple being, but a complex one made up of many parts and qualities, those parts and qualities are continually being added to him and taken away from him. He is always changing, not only physically, but intellectually and spiritually, too. But none of this is true of God. He has no parts. Being utterly simple, nothing can ever be added to Him or taken away from Him. He does not have such qualities as goodness and wisdom, He is them.

Therefore when we say that God is good or wise, we do not mean that He possesses the virtues of goodness and wisdom, but that He is Goodness; He is Wisdom. Nothing can take them away from Him for they are His very nature and being. He is all the goodness there is, all the wisdom there is. And if anything or anybody else is good or wise, then that means that he has received his goodness from God and is partaking in His wisdom — or more properly, in Him. We are likely to think that such virtues belong to us once we have them, but they don't. They are completely separable from us, and if we have them, we ought to thank God for them.

This is God's simplicity, that nothing can be added to Him and nothing can be taken away from Him. What He can be, He is. He doesn't grow or decay. He doesn't learn or forget. He doesn't get better and better, or worse and worse. And this fact helps us to understand another characteristic of His: He is unchangeable, the same yesterday, today and forever. By this time, you can see, I think, that unchangeableness follows quite naturally from simplicity; and it follows, too, and just as naturally from His infinity and self-sufficiency which we spoke of a while back. In fact if we had space to go deeply into the meaning of each attribute or characteristic of God, we should discover that each one implies all the others and at bottom in a certain sense they are all identical because He is all of them fully and completely.

Besides the fact that God does not grow or wither away, unchangeableness means that all His acts or operations are eternal, although their effects may not be. For example, God's act of creation was once for all, but the effects or results of it as we know them around us and in us are by no means eternal. Change is just as characteristic of creation as unchangeableness is of God. But the act and the principles or laws embodied in that act are His. So the unchangeableness of God assures us of the stability of His laws, physical laws and moral laws. There is no capriciousness in God as there is in us. And so it is evident that if our personal relationship with God undergoes change, as it does from time to time, the cause of the change must be in us for it cannot be in Him. We can rely absolutely on His promises.

PARISH NOTES

RELUCTANTLY the Board of Trustees, at their last meeting, accepted the resignation of their Vice President, Howard I. Dohrman. Mr Dohrman felt it imperative to hand in his resignation because of the fact that he now lives at so great a distance from St Mary's and with advancing years he has found the trip too difficult. He has been a faithful communicant of St Mary's for many years, a period covering every rectorate back to that of the Founder of the parish, Father Brown. For fifty-seven years Mr Dohrman has been officially connected with the parish, first as Assistant Treasurer, then as Treasurer and Trustee. We are most grateful for his unquestioned loyalty to St Mary's and for his wise and cheerful counsel as a Trustee these many years. We pray God's continued blessing on him and on his family.

The Trustees have elected as Vice President in Mr Dohrman's place Hoxie Neale Fairchild who for many years has been a devoted and valued Trustee of St Mary's. We congratulate Professor Fairchild on this honor so richly deserved by him.

THE Feast of the Presentation of Christ in the Temple, also called the Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary and popularly known as Candlemas, falls on Wednesday, February the second. (The Ground Hog mysteriously emerges on this day.) The Candlemas Rite will take place at noon, when High Mass will be celebrated preceded by the Solemn Blessing of Candles and Procession of Lights, with a brief sermon by Father Bosher. Low Masses will be celebrated at 7, 8 and 9:30 in the Lady Chapel. The Candlemas Solemnity at noon is rich in symbolism and devotion and it should not be missed.

YEAR by year St Mary’s plays host to many visiting acolytes, with their priests, at our annual Acolytes’ Festival on Lincoln’s Birthday, February the twelfth. The Festival this year will open with a five-minute Charge to the Acolytes by Bishop Boynton, our beloved New York Suffragan, followed by High Mass, Procession of the Host and Solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The ladies of St Mary’s very generously prepare and serve luncheon in St Joseph’s Hall, invitations to which must be limited to priests and acolytes. (Indeed, the luncheon, because of crowded conditions, fully depicts the “survival of the fittest.”) You and your friends, however, are invited to attend the devotions in the church. It is wise to arrive early if you wish to get in, for St Mary’s literally bulges that day.

ADVANCE notice is given of the Lent Retreat for Men and Women to be conducted this year on Saturday, March the twelfth, by Father Dentan, Professor of Old Testament Literature and Interpretation at the General Theological Seminary.

THE Day Branch of the Woman’s Auxiliary meets in St Joseph’s Hall on Friday morning, February the eighteenth at ten-forty-five, when the speaker will be Mrs Gurney Williams, Diocesan Chairman of Devotional Life. A Corporate Communion in the Lady Chapel at the nine-thirty Mass will precede this meeting.

The Evening Branch of the Woman’s Auxiliary meets Tuesday evening, February the fifteenth in St Joseph’s Hall at seven-fifteen. The meeting will be preceded by a Group Dinner at six at Child’s, Broadway at 46th Street. The monthly Corporate Communion will have been held at the nine o’clock Mass on Sunday, February the sixth.
