A MONTHLY BULLETIN
OF THE
CHURCH OF SAINT MARY THE VIRGIN
NEW YORK

VOL. XXV JANUARY, 1956 No. 1
Dear Parishioners of St. Mary's,—

The recent effective appeal of our Parish Treasurer, Mr. Leslie Evan Roberts, has been answered with enthusiasm and with love. Whereas the goal has not yet been reached, the gifts are still coming in and the gratitude accompanying the gifts already received has been overpowering. Yes, we are a grateful parish and therefore a happy parish and we press forward with confidence and faith into the future. St. Mary's was founded on faith and please God she will bravely continue on faith.

Once each year it is the duty of a parish priest to remind the members of his flock of the duty and importance of making their wills. After all, God has given us the talents and the physical means for creating wealth and so all the wealth which we acquire must be considered as being held in trust. As trustees of our wealth we must use it faithfully and with God's approval. None of it can we take with us at our death and so it behooves us to will it so that it may be used for God's glory after we have gone through the gate of death. Each of us, therefore, is in duty bound to make a will and as trustees before God of our possessions we should provide for their future use in God's Church and in charitable work carried on in God's name and in family life where there is genuine need for help.

Is St. Mary's a beneficiary in your will? If she is, then you will be doing your part to ward off any deficit in future years and to assure the witness of your beloved parish for the Catholic Cause throughout this part of the Anglican Communion. Do help St. Mary's to keep her beacon light burning brightly for many generations to come.
And a Happy New Year to each and everyone of you!

Affectionately yours,

PRE-CONFIRMATION INSTRUCTION

The Bishop of New York has appointed the evening of the Fourth Sunday in Lent, March the eleventh, for the administration of the Sacrament of Holy Confirmation here at St Mary's. In addition to much individual instruction to be given by your priests and the Sisters of the Holy Nativity, there will be a series of formal instructions given by Father Taber at eight on the six Sunday evenings preceding Confirmation according to the following schedule:

January 29 — Authority
February 5 — Saints and Angels
February 12 — Prayer
February 19 — Sin
February 26 — Sacrifice
March 4 — Discipline

Plan now to bring with you to these Instructions some friends or neighbors whom you would interest in the Catholic Faith and whom you would draw into happy union with the Incarnate Lord. You are a missionary when you are a Catholic Christian. And do not forget those members of your own family who have not yet experienced the joys of the sacramental life. There is someone waiting to be invited by you to receive more of God's light and grace through His Holy Church.

BEFORE THE TABERNACLE

Where Silence is Golden

During Christmastide the familiar Introit is heard: "When all things were in quiet silence and night was in the midst of her swift course, thine almighty Word, O Lord, leaped down from heaven out of thy royal throne." Yes, on the holiest of all nights there was stillness over hill and valley, broken only by the sound of bleating sheep. The Syrian sky was unclouded in its brightness, studded with stars beyond number. Presently a multitude of angels filled the sky as they sang the first and last melody of heaven ever heard by human ears: "Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace to men of good will." Some shepherds, filled with wonder which interfered not with the silence that had settled down over the Manger in Bethlehem, visited the Holy Babe and the silence absorbed their simple trust and adoration offered to the new-born Saviour. Theirs was the earliest homage accepted by the Son of God and it was a silent homage that sprang from simplicity. Who of us would not wish to have been one of those shepherds in Bethlehem long years ago?

But the Tabernacle is a present Bethlehem! Jesus who came as the living bread down from heaven is with us in the Reserved Sacrament. However, if we are to grasp the full meaning of His Sacramental Presence we must be like the shepherds in our love of silence. We must delight in paying a visit to the Tabernacle when no sound rends the air, when there are no exciting details or formalities or music attending our visit. We must rejoice just to offer ourselves — our hopes, desires, plans, joys, griefs, disappointments — all these for Jesus craves our all. After our silent offering we too like the shepherds of old may resume our ordinary life which we shall somehow find different since God will have become all, and all else nothing.

You see, the Incarnate Word greatly loves silence. He chose as the night of His holy birth one in which all creatures were silent. He keeps silence in the Tabernacle. What a wonderful silence this is, — a silence which teaches every visitor to the Tabernacle that the school of wisdom is after all silence wherein we learn the art of speaking properly and of acquiring the spirit of calm reflection which is the gateway to true prayer.

Now, strangely enough, silence is powerfully eloquent. What does the silence of the Tabernacle say to us visitors? It tells us that greatness is cloaked with humility. He who dwells in the Tabernacle has come to the rescue of men entrenched in pride and rebellion. Men's losses have been repaired through the self-abasement and humiliation of the Saviour. Over against the pride of the world He has placed greatest lowliness and thereby He has restored glory to God by humbly becoming man for man's sake.

The silence of the Tabernacle tells us visitors of the riches of the redemption. As St Paul has put it: "Though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor that ye through His poverty might be rich." Our wealth lies in the poverty of the Tabernacle for in that poor though spotless Host are contained the unsearchable riches of God,—all the blessings and graces brought from heaven to earth and most especially the grace of redemption offered to all who are of good will. Herein is our peace.

The silence of the Tabernacle makes the truth "God is love" shine out for us,—not that He is loving or that He sometimes loves but that He is love. Out of the mystery of Him who is love grows all life that is worthy of the name, that is, the life of the soul. Away from our noisy flutter in the spending of time and the spending of money and the toils of our daily occupations we go in silence back to God in the Tabernacle whom we love much for we have been forgiven much. Just because He permits our unworthy visits is sure proof of His reigning love. Indeed in silence before the Tabernacle Throne of the King of Love we move upward and onward from the dust of earthly routine into the gold of the heavenly city because our vain circumstances have been ennobled by love.

There is nothing for us to do when we reach our places before the Tabernacle but to adore. There is nothing left but to surrender ourselves there. There is nothing remaining for us but to worship Him who dwells there in lowliness and poverty and weakness in the pure white Host. Oh, come let us adore Him, but in silence.

Will that be easy? Not at all. Silence demands of us not intellectual attainments but it does demand endless patience and steady faithfulness. To many of us it will be harder than fasting, more severe than physical discomfort, more humiliating than self-examination. However, if we persist in regular and frequent and silent visits to the Tabernacle, sooner than we think a Voice that cannot be mistaken will cleave the silence and a Touch that cannot be imitated will fall upon us and our souls will exclaim "It is the Lord." And we shall silently adore and we shall know that the treasure of silence is indeed the treasure of the humble and the wealth of beggars.

THE BAPTISM OF JESUS

St John Baptist, where are you going?
St John Baptist, where do you go?

St Elizabeth, my mother, I'm going down to Jordan;
The sinners are crowding there and I must go.
St John Baptist, my son, be gentle;
Wash them clean in Jordan and give them peace.
Mother, their sins will be washed clean in Jordan,
For God's Hand is over us; His Mercy is our peace.
My son, you are shaking and cold from the river,
But your eyes are full of glory; what did you see?
The Mercy washed sinners clean in cold Jordan water,
And the Lamb of God came down to be baptized of me.
Mother, I knew Him and yet I did not know Him.
His hair was white as wool and His eyes were a flame.
He is our kinsman, Mary's son Jesus,
And He is the Lamb of God, and I dare not say His Name.
St John Baptist, pray for us sinners;
Blessed St Elizabeth, pray for us all;
Holy Lady Mary, pray thy Son to hear us;
Lord Christ, bring us to Heaven's high hall.

WHAT ABOUT GOD? (13)

If Christian life begins in Holiness, it grows in Righteousness, for the righteousness of God is an attribute that is very closely related to His Holiness. Indeed, we often tend to confuse the two, but while it would be correct to say that holiness implies righteousness, yet there is a distinction between them as we shall see. And then there are Justice and Goodness (or Benevolence) which are also often equated with Righteousness. We might as well mention them all at once and get them straightened out.

Now it is true that righteousness and justice are practically the same thing. Righteousness is a little more general term, and the term, Justice, is often used to refer to a particular application of it, that's all. So we shall consider them together. But Goodness or Benevolence is quite distinct—though closely related—so we shall leave that to the future.

I think we can best get the idea of God's righteousness if we start by considering how that term may be applied to ourselves and work up from there to an understanding of the difference in quality between our righteousness and that of God. We say that a man is righteous when he conforms to a standard of goodness that is outside himself, a standard set by his family or his community or some other authority that has the right to set a standard of goodness. In short, he is righteous when he is obedient to a higher will than his own in his life and conduct. There is first of all the standard of right which is set for a child by his parents. And we say that an obedient child is a good child and a disobedient child is a bad one. Then there are the laws of the state. A good citizen obeys them and a bad citizen does not. Beyond both of these is the branch of philosophy called, Ethics. In the study of Ethics the philosopher attempts to discover the principles of right and wrong which are of universal application, those which have been recognized by men of many different races and civilizations in many different eras of history as the standards of right to which all laws and rules of conduct ought to conform. I say "ought to conform," because it is quite evident that human laws and rules of states and parents and other authorities do not always conform to these higher principles.

But we have not reached the top yet. For Ethics is after all the result of an intellectual effort that is purely human and is therefore finite, fallible and open to error. Beyond all this is the Divine Law, which is simply another name for the Will of God which is infinite and infallible. For the Christian there can be no doubt that the Will of God as revealed to us by Jesus Christ is the ultimate and eternal standard of right. And this is true, not only for man's conduct in relation to God, but for his conduct in relation to his fellow men and to himself.

The Righteousness of God, then, is the determination of His will and purpose by His own moral perfection. Therefore, as we saw in the beginning: for us, righteousness lies in our conformity to the will of Another, that is, God. But for God, Righteousness lies in the fulfillment of His own Will. God's righteousness is revealed to us in the Moral Law, in divine judgments, and in the distribution of rewards and penalties. And it is in connection with this last item — the distribution of rewards and penalties — that we speak more particularly of Justice.

The New Testament makes it perfectly clear to us that God's judgments are without respect of persons, that they are impartial. Being omniscient, God knows all the attendant circumstances, including our own motives, surrounding any given action of ours, and judges accordingly. So God dispenses eternal happiness to His creatures according to their deserving. And our deserving proceeds from three sources: 1. Our divinely created nature; 2. Our personal characters; 3. Our good works. It is obvious that all deserving depends on the second source, so unrepented and unexpiated sin is fatal to any form of deserving. In the last analysis all of these things can be accomplished only through the grace of God given us by the merits of Jesus Christ. And so we must say that our deserving is wholly based on the merits of Christ which, are appropriated by Faith, imparted to us by our being made members of His Body, the Church; and established by our bringing forth fruits worthy of repentance.

PARISH NOTES

The Feast of the Epiphany, January the sixth, is one of the treasured festivals of the Incarnate Lord. High Mass, with communions, will be celebrated at seven in the morning, followed by Low Masses at 8, 9:30 and 12:10. No one can fill your place before the altar at this glorious Festival but you.

The 1956 St Bede Lectures will be given in St James's Parish House, 31 East 71st Street, at eight-thirty on three Monday evenings in January under the general heading of "The Bible in Anglican Tradition." The lectures will be as follows:

January 9 — English Translations of the Bible
January 16 — The Bible in the Liturgy
January 23 — The Bible in Private Devotion

Happily the lecturer will be Father Robert C. Dentan, Professor of Old Testament Literature and Interpretation at the General Theological Seminary. There is no admission charge, but there will be an opportunity for a voluntary offering to cover expenses. These lectures will afford a golden opportunity to get caught up into the glories of God's revealed Word. There is one advertisement that needs constantly to be displayed: "Wanted: more Bible-reading Christians."

We are all most grateful to Mr and Mrs Charles Edgar for the gift of a new screen on which slides may be projected at our illustrated lectures in St Joseph's Hall. Our old screen was unstable in all its ways, to put it mildly, and threatened total collapse at each and every lecture during the last few years. However, the new screen is so resplendently beautiful that it will take some unusual slides to prove that the pictures projected are more pleasing than the screen. We eagerly await the next performance.

The Presiding Bishop has designated Sunday, January the twenty-second as Theological Education Sunday (it still is the Third Sunday after the Epiphany). However, on this Sunday, we shall be pleased to receive your special offerings for the training of priests in our Seminaries. The total offering will be divided amongst Seabury-Western Theological Seminary, The Philadelphia Divinity School and Nashotah House, — the Seminaries which turned loose on the Church your parish priests. Accompany your offerings with prayers for an increase in vocations to the sacred priesthood and for a well-trained and well-disciplined body of priests.

If you have begun the new year of 1956 without an Ordo Kalender you may get lost in secularism. These Kalendars, which this year bear a fine picture of the High Altar at St Mary's, are on sale at St Francis de Sales Shop and through the Church Office. The price is fifty cents, or sixty cents if mailed.

The Evening Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary meets Tuesday evening, January the seventeenth at seven-fifteen in St Joseph's Hall. Miss Daphne Hughes of the Youth Consultation Service of the Diocese of Newark and a former communicant of St Mary's, will give a talk. All women of the parish are most cordially invited to be present. A Dutch Treat dinner at Child's, Forty-sixth Street at Broadway, will precede the meeting.

The Day Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary meets in St Joseph's Hall Friday morning, January the twentieth at ten-forty-five, following upon a Corporate Communion at the nine-thirty Mass in the Lady Chapel.

On Tuesday evening, January thirty-first, at seven-thirty, the Evening Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary is holding a Bridge and Games Party in St Joseph's Hall. The proceeds will go toward the mission work of the Evening Branch. Members of the parish and their friends are asked to reserve this date for a gala evening in which there will be prizes and plenty of fun for everyone. Tickets at one dollar and twenty-five cents may be purchased at the door, or from Mrs. Madolin Cervantes, 125 West 70th Street, New York 23.

If you value Ave perhaps you will be happy to make a contribution toward the expenses of printing and mailing. We should like to make Ave completely self-supporting.

What's the matter with praising God
On New Year's Day in the morning,
Don't you think it's a little odd
Just to start off without praising God?
Won't the Mass be a staff and a rod
In the year that's now a-borning?
What's the matter with praising God
On New Year's Day in the morning?
