Dear Parishioners of St Mary's,—

We shall be overjoyed in again keeping the Queen of Feasts, the Festival of the Resurrection of our blessed Lord from the dead. Our celebration of Eastertide will be joyful in proportion to our union with Christ in His Passion. Our faithful keeping of Lent, culminating before the Cross of Calvary, will be the measure of our joy during the Easter season.

Now this joy could well be an abiding and not a temporary joy if we would sustain the spiritual advances made during this past Lent. The pity of it is that though the faithful keeping of our Lenten Rule has caused us to climb up many rungs in the ladder that goes from earth to heaven, yet too often we fall back from the point from which we started on Ash Wednesday with somewhat of a sickening thud.

My brothers and sisters, this ought not so to be nor need this be the situation.

True, we shall not expect to continue the Lenten fast nor much of the Lenten abstinence. There is no good reason why we should. However, we should profit by our Lenten discipline to such an extent that we can be scrupulously careful in observing the abstinences and fasts that properly continue throughout the Christian year, such as the abstinence and fast on Ember Days, the abstinence every Friday and the strict fast before receiving Holy Communion, with the added abstinence and fast on the Vigils of Pentecost, All Saints and Christmas.

But let us maintain many of the good habits acquired during Lent, — our visits to the Blessed Sacrament, the beginning of not a few weekdays before the altar at the Holy Mass, some worth-while spiritual reading, greater care in our prayer life, strict watchfulness against temptation and more loving kindness extended to our fellowmen.
All of us are on journey from earth to heaven, from self to God, from sin to righteousness, but for the honor and glory of God as well as for our own joy let us hold to such advances as we have already made through God's grace and let us be thankful and joyful.

Affectionately yours,

BEFORE THE TABERNACLE

With Our Companion

It was on the Day of Resurrection. Two men, disciples of Jesus, left Jerusalem for their home in Emmaus, some eight miles distant. It was a walk taking about three hours. They had planned to arrive home during the glory of the sunset, for home never looked better than then. So they set forth in mid afternoon after the heat of the day. Through the fields they strolled as they left the city where so much of tragedy had transpired during the last three days. Although they quite naturally busied themselves in conversation, a despair steeped in sullenness seemed to hold them in its grip. They had seen Jesus dead and yet deep down in their hearts they wished that He might be alive and that there might be truth in the stories a few holy women had brought of His rising from the tomb. However, they supported each other in unbelief and like all unbelievers they were sad.

Instinctively these two travelers to Emmaus started to review the past for they were discouraged about the present. It was a case of the good old days being brought to the surface for purposes of escape. How wonderful it had been when they first met Jesus. How much more wonderful it had been when they came really to love Him. How happy they were when they felt a compulsion to leave all — their work, their friends, their homes — to give all their time in following Jesus. With what keenness they looked forward to helping Him establish a new Kingdom. But their hopes had been dashed in pieces and they were plunged into sadness when the King died on a rough wooden cross in the company of two common criminals.

Well, they were proceeding along the lane towards Emmaus at a slow pace, in keeping with their sad thoughts. Presently a lone traveler overtook them. Discerning their solemn countenances he asked what troubled them and why their conversation was on so gloomy a note. They could not understand why this new companion had not known what had happened to Jesus. Of course, however, he could have just arrived in Jerusalem a few hours earlier. They would make up for his lack of information when they told him all about Jesus, how many loyal friends had followed Him, especially those who had been healed by Him of their various diseases and infirmities. They told him about the Palm Procession eight days earlier and so vividly that they made him hear the ring of the Hosannas. They told him about the agony in Gethsemane and the scourging and the crucifixion. They filled in with many a detail. More especially they told him how they and others of Jesus' followers had expected the thrill of being prominent subjects in a new kingdom, but now all was shattered. Then they told him of the tales carried by some imaginative women who claimed that the body of Jesus was no longer in the sepulchre and that angels had announced "He is risen."

Then they walked in silence which was presently broken as their companion turned to them, startlingly addressing them as fools with darkened understandings. How could they think but that their Jesus must of necessity have suffered and then and then only entered into His glory? And as their companion continued to talk with them, he spoke with authority about Old Testament days and about the paschal lamb and about the serpent in the wilderness and about sacrifice for sin and much else. As they listened they seemed to see everything in a new light. Of course the Passion of their Jesus just had to be for it was a sublime proof of the Kingship of a Saviour. Indeed they were getting a new vision of Calvary.

Soon their companion tried to leave them but they simply could not let him go. They invited him to spend a few hours with them and they persuaded him to accompany them to the inn at Emmaus and to partake of the evening meal with them when lo! he took bread and as he raised his sight heavenward he blessed the bread and broke it in pieces and began to distribute it and immediately their minds rushed back to the lakeside scene where some five thousand hungry listeners were miraculously fed. This was the same Jesus. They knew Him in this Breaking of Bread. Indeed, He had risen from the dead. While He quietly withdrew from their midst they instinctively started back to Jerusalem, this time quickening their pace for they were overjoyed with the news they would bring to the disciples and their friends in Jerusalem in that they had seen and talked with the Risen Jesus.
Are you, gentle readers, lonely and sad as you journey along the road of life? Are you at times sorely tried in your faith, with battles of conscience added to your trials? Then go to the Tabernacle. There is your Companion. The love which inflamed the souls of those two disciples on the road to Emmaus still burns, like a bright flame defying all description, in every consecrated Host in the Tabernacle. That love will come forth to you as you kneel, perhaps sadly, in adoration. It will come forth to burn up your unbeliefs and trials as you rejoice in finding your Divine Companion.

You see Jesus travels by our side in our sad exile here on this earth where we are indeed mere strangers and pilgrims. "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world" has been his consoling proclamation. Indeed He who once came and prepared the way of salvation and made it beautifully clear as to what our line of conduct should be on this way of salvation now goes so far as to strengthen us with nourishment so that we may not need to faint by the way. Too, He helps us to embrace our little crosses which become increasingly insignificant as we glimpse His heavy cross, for with the Cross of Calvary He has opened to us the gate of heaven. Yes, it was expected that He should have suffered on Calvary's Hill and it is natural that we His followers should reach our heavenly home by a path of sacrificial suffering. He gives us His help always for He remains with us always in the Tabernacle in order to give that help. As with the disciples on the road to Emmaus, so with us He helps us to see everything in a new light if we find ourselves frequently in His presence before the Tabernacle.

Now of course we have some of the defects of those disciples on that first Easter Day. Like them, we have not yet learned how to wait for God's good time to make Himself known to us and like them we seek too often for consolation from external things, such as a change of scene, when only God can be our consolation. Right here is an example of the confusion of the various meanings of love that I mentioned, for my definition applies to divine and eternal love (which, however, man can share with God and manifest himself to a certain degree). But those who made such a remark were talking about a sentiment, emotional love which man shares with the animals, and which is never really unselfish. Its author always expects to "get something out of it" in the way of his own pleasure and satisfaction.

But, we mustn't go too far afield about human loves for our subject is God. And we may now say that God's love is His will to embrace in personal friendship all who are capable of enjoying it.
And since such friendship is the highest good of all intelligent beings, we can put it still more simply and say that the willing of good is love.

Such love in its highest or divine form is without all conditions and regardless of cost. Our Lord made this clear when He said that the greatest love a man could have is to lay down his life for his friends. That is for man the greatest possible sacrifice. And there is no question as to whether the friends are worthy of such a sacrifice. Love doesn't ask such questions. There is no bargaining in love. God never says, "I will love you if—," or, "I can't love a man who is a sinner." No, the very essence of the Gospel of Christ is that God does love sinners, loves them so completely and infinitely that He was willing even to become a man and to sacrifice Himself on the Cross for them that they might turn from their sins, be cleansed of them, and return to live in eternal friendship with Him.

All the blocks to God's love are on the side of the beloved. It is we who say, "No, I won't give up my sins and let God's love get through to me." He never ceases to offer it, for God's love extends to all existing things since a thing has existence in as much as God wills it the good of existing. And this willing of good is love.

But love in its perfection is a mutual thing and so Divine love attains its purpose and perfection when we accept it and return it. Otherwise it is frustrated and inoperative as far as we are concerned. To be able to accept and return the love of God we need to grow into a likeness of personal character to God, or in other words to grow in holiness. And oddly enough it is that very love for which we are striving that enables us to do this. It is that aspect of God's love which is called Mercy which makes it possible for our sins to be forgiven and for us to start out afresh on the path of holiness. Then it is possible for us to take the next step and turn our own wills to good for God and through Him for our fellow-creatures, a reflection in us of the love of God.

Love is the crown, the perfection, the sum of all the characteristic attributes of God. God is Love. And so love is the most powerful force in the universe. And this force is always being offered to us, freely, only needing our acceptance. God is always willing our good and wanting us to accept it. Only we have the awful power to say, No.

PARISH NOTES

The Feast of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, normally falling on March the twenty-fifth, is quite accustomed to being transferred out of Holy or Easter Week. This year we shall rejoice to keep this much loved Festival, popularly called Lady Day, on Monday, April the ninth. Our joy will bring us naturally to High Mass, with communions, that morning at seven. We shall together praise God for Our Lady's Fiat (Be it unto me) which in a sense marked the beginning of the work of redemption. We scarcely need to remind ourselves that honor paid to the Mother of God leads to worship of the Divine Son, the world's and our Redeemer.

The Annual Parish Meeting for the election of delegates to the Convention of the Diocese of New York and to the Convocation of Manhattan will be held in St. Joseph's Hall on Monday afternoon, April the ninth, at five-thirty. The polls will be closed at five-forty-five. Male communicants who regularly contribute to the support of the parish are eligible voters.

The Convention of the Diocese of New York convenes on Tuesday, May the eighth.

On Tuesday, April the seventeenth, Father Taber will give his seventeenth Book Review under the auspices of the Guild of Help. Mrs. George H. Ingalls of 350 Park Avenue has kindly opened her apartment for this occasion and she will welcome all guests at tea. The subscription is two dollars and fifty cents and tickets may be obtained from a member of the Guild or from the Church Office, 145 West 46th Street. As you doubtless know this annual Review benefits principally the Youth Consultation Service of the Diocese of New York,—a Society that brings spiritual help and encouragement to young people in trouble. Their number increases and therefore your patronage should increase.

Each year Holy Week at St. Mary's brings us to the heights and depths of devotional experience. This is due primarily to the love of God which reaches its culmination in Calvary's sacrifice. However, God entrusts His grace and favor to the work of human hands and human hands do gloriously work here in our beloved parish. The clergy, the Sisters of the Holy Nativity with many women who assist them, the Masters of Ceremonies, the acolytes, the Director of Music, the organist, the choir, the ushers, the sextons and many other willing hands work very hard to provide a fitting setting for the great work of prayer engaged in by all the members of the congregation. It is the work of a very grateful and very happy family and it is offered humbly to God.

THE Day Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary will meet in St Joseph's Hall on Friday morning, April the twentieth. This is the annual meeting at which officers will be elected to serve in the coming year. A Corporate Communion will be held that morning at the nine-thirty Mass in the Lady Chapel.

The Evening Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary will hold its annual meeting for the election of officers for the coming year in St Joseph's Hall on Tuesday evening, April the seventeenth, following a Dutch Treat dinner at Child's, Broadway at Forty-sixth Street at six. The Corporate Communion of the Evening Branch will have been held at the nine o'clock Mass on Sunday, April the first.

All women of the congregation are most cordially urged to attend either or both of these meetings.

If any one of the congregation wishes the privilege of providing flowers for the High Altar as a memorial or thank offering, the following dates are open for 1956:

- April 22, The Third Sunday after Easter
- July 1, The Fifth Sunday after Trinity
- July 22, The Eighth Sunday after Trinity
- July 29, The Ninth Sunday after Trinity
- Sept. 16, The Sixteenth Sunday after Trinity

Kindly consult Mrs Newbury Frost Read, 277 Park Avenue, New York City 17 (PL 5-7600), Treasurer of St Mary's Flower Fund.

THE next Presentation of the United Thank Offering will be made at the ten o'clock Mass at the Cathedral of St John the Divine, Tuesday, May the first. Every woman of the parish is invited to attend this Mass as well as the business meeting which will follow in the Synod Hall. Contributions for the United Thank Offering may be sent to our Parish Custodian, Mrs James R. English, 4 East 95th Street, New York City 28, before Sunday, April the twenty-ninth or given to her personally after the High Mass on that day.

The members of the Evening Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary will make their offerings through their Parish Custodian, Miss Adelaide D. Simpson, 520 West 114th Street, New York City 25.

It is hoped that any woman of the parish not at present having a share in the United Thank Offering by faithful use of a blue box will request the Parish Custodian for such a box.
