Dear Parishioners of St Marys,—

The season of Advent is a season of both glad and solemn expectancy. During Advent Christians center their thoughts on the coming of their divine Saviour and they busy themselves with preparations to receive Him.

Before the fullness of time had come when God the Father would send forth from heaven to earth His only-begotten Son Jesus Christ to be born in the flesh, the nations of the world had waited and hoped for a Saviour. After all paradise had been lost to the sons of men by reason of their sins and conscience-stricken mortals with longing and fear waited and hoped. Then the Saviour came, born of a humble virgin, cradled in a Bethlehem manger, and fulfilled a ministry of redemption which reached its climax on the Cross. Those who had waited and longed for salvation then had the privilege of leaving the race of the lost and becoming members of the family of the redeemed.

Now by His own promise the Saviour of mankind will come again at the Last Great Day, the end of all days. He will come under His sign of the Cross and with glory, attended by all the Holy Angels, to pass final judgment on men and nations. So it happens that during this and every Advent we seriously remind ourselves that our own record in the book to be opened by the just Judge should show a faithful use of God’s many gifts to us on our earthly pilgrimage, else we cannot hear those gracious words of the Judge, “Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world.”

Wonderfully too Jesus comes to us again and again in each Holy Communion. Our reception of Him and His graces and His blessings will be that on which we shall be judged at the Last Great Day. If we are very much at home with Him in His earthly temple at His altar throne we shall be quite naturally at home with Him in His heavenly kingdom. Our preparations for and thanksgivings after each Communion will be the measure of our at-homeness.
Oh, may we devoutly prepare for Jesu's every coming and may we maintain closer union with Him after every coming.

Now if we would find ourselves happily welcoming His coming in our Christmas Communion, let us welcome Him at many a Communion before Christmas. Otherwise a Christmas Communion could be coldly perfunctory. My prayer is that each and every one of you may warmly and lovingly receive Christ as He offers Himself to you on Christmas Day.

Affectionately,

THE MIDNIGHT MASS

Darkness is winter; winter is deep night;
Our fixed star the Sanctuary light,
Bethlehem, Christ with us, our delight,
Silence is darkness, in the Word is light,
The small irrevocable Word of might,
The holy Word-made-flesh this holy night.

CHRISTIAN, COME ALIVE!

By Bearing Fruit

SOMETIMES when we take account of stock — and stocktaking is one of the reasons for going into retreat or observing Quiet Days — we discover to our horror that we are leaves and not fruit. As Christians we know that we have received from Christ oh so much and that we have given back to Him oh so little. Yet Christ says to us, "Ye have not chosen me but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit and that your fruit should remain." Yes, because of Jesus and by His power we are to go forth into the world witnessing to Him by bearing fruit, which witness must needs be a constant factor in our lives.

Now most Christians are sure of their faith. They have been brought up in it and steeped in it. They are sure too of their vocation, of their calling to follow Christ. But they are not sure of their fruitfulness in Christ. All the while, however, their Mother the Church reminds them that her standard of sanctity is much fruit. She sets this standard for only in so doing can she be true to her Lord who has said, "Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples."

Does all this terrify us? Then let us listen to Jesus: "I am the Vine, ye are the branches. He that abideth in me and I in him the same bringeth forth much fruit; for without me ye can be nothing." All can be well can it not? Of course we can expect to bear no fruit without Christ. However, united to Him we can not help but bring forth much fruit in our daily living — Christian fruit. So it is that which matters most is the nature of our union with Christ. The closer that union is the more fruit we shall offer to the world. Now a life of close union with Christ is a life lived through strong sanctifying grace. In such a life our human efforts will ever be subsidiary to God's grace. Therefore, we come to learn that just as man cannot build and sustain the universe through his own efforts so the Christian cannot build and sustain his own life through his own efforts. United to Christ he can do all things. Yes, he can be a fruit-bearing Christian through Christ who strengthens him.

What is the basis of the Christian's union with Christ and therefore the basis of his ability to bear fruit? It is love. As pride is the root sin and every other sin is a form of pride, so love is the root virtue and every other virtue is a form of love. Indeed, the love of God and the love of men on account of God is the root of all spiritual growth. No wonder that St Augustine exclaimed, "Love God and do what you will." Yes the love of God bursts into a bush that blossoms into flowers of righteousness which grow into fruits of mercy.

Another way of looking at the whole matter is to emphasise the fact that the cloak of love is seamless, — all of one piece. So it happens that if we love we shall radiate righteousness and show mercy. In short, love is unavoidably fruit-bearing. Every soul that loves is a bush in the garden of the Lord, — a tree, as the Psalmist puts it, "planted by the water side that will bring forth fruit in due season." Such a soul by virtue of its love is always a deed of great strength and therefore a fruit of heavenly excellency. Acts of love may stay within that soul or they may go forth from it into the world. The spirit of love in itself however is contagious. Who has not been content merely to be in the company of one who radiates love? Such an one can be dumb, or blind, or too crippled to engage in any outward acts of mercy. Hard it is to appraise Christian fruitfulness. When we look for external acts we should always think of them as fruits that grow on the wall which encircles the garden of the Lord, the garden where love is the true fertility.

All will recognize that the greatest love is inarticulate and that the greater the love the fewer the words and that the Christian filled with the love of Christ cannot always have the opportunity to show his love in external behavior. Indeed, even if he were to have the opportunity to shed a martyr's blood, he would feel that he had done less than the measure that is in him since his measure is the life of Christ and not his own puny life. Yes, love is the strength of those who set out to win others to God, take what form it will. It may be just radiated through the eyes of the lover.

Does all this mean that we are not called upon to bring forth the fruit of good works? Not at all. The great Lover of Souls has said, "If ye love me, keep my commandments." And He has commanded us to love God and to love our neighbor as God has loved us. Now we can bring forth fruit in the love of our neighbor by performing works of mercy, either corporal or spiritual. Corporal works of mercy are to feed the hungry, give drink to the thirsty, clothe the naked, ransom the captive, shelter the homeless, visit the sick, bury the dead. The spiritual works of mercy are to admonish the sinner, instruct the ignorant, counsel the doubtful, comfort the sorrowful, bear wrongs patiently, forgive all injuries, pray for the living and the dead.

Now he who performs these works will be a fruit-bearer in Christian living — a bearer of the fruit of good works. Be it remembered, however, that all fruit-bearing must begin with love. Love alone can offset hardheartedness in doing good. Love alone can fill up the lack of understanding in dealing with the afflicted. Love alone can send into oblivion the satisfaction in the consciousness of one's own superiority in any situation. Love alone can turn the discard any insistence on lawful claims in dealing with others. Love alone can keep from allowing a person in need to feel that he is a subordinate by making him beg for the same thing several times.

Radiant love only can grow into the fruit of spiritual or corporal works of mercy. May every Christian love God before he tries to do what he wills in becoming a fruit-bearer!

SONSHIP

Baby's eyes lifted to Mary's face,
Baby's hands learning, led by grace—
Humbly obedient, that little Boy,
Filling His Mother's heart with joy:
Saviour's eyes lifted from Cross to Thee,
Saviour's hands nailed upon that Tree—
Almighty God, how much He willed
Thy Father's heart with joy be filled!  F.T.C.

THE CHURCH, THE BODY OF CHRIST (8)

The identification of the Church with its Head, our Lord Jesus Christ, as His Body — which identification we have been insisting on — is sometimes a stumbling block for those who are trying to understand the nature of the Church. Actually it is a matter of simple fact which is made perfectly clear, not only by St Paul, but by our Lord Himself in the New Testament. Saul, the fiery Hebrew of the Hebrews, bent on destroying the infant Church, set out one day with full authority to annihilate the Church in Damascus. On the way, suddenly a great light shone about him, he fell to the ground, and the voice of the Lord Christ sounded in his ears, "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou Me?" And on his asking who it was, the reply came, "I am Jesus whom thou persecutest."
It was Jesus who spoke to him and here it is to be noted that Jesus did not say, "Saul, why are you persecuting My Church?" or, "Why are you persecuting My people?" or, "My disciples?" but, "Why are you persecuting Me?" There is no equivocation here about the identification. By the very fact that Saul was persecuting the Christian Church, he was persecuting Jesus Christ. They are one and the same.

Our Lord was declaring that the Church is His Body, that in striking that body you strike its Head, that He and the Church are one Person. And so the Church is in the true sense of the term the prolongation of the Incarnation. It is the new Body which Christ assumes after His Ascension with which to extend His Kingship throughout the kingdoms of the world. It is the new living instrument through which He teaches, governs and sanctifies. It is His new corporate human nature under the headship of His Divine Person. It is His fulness without which His life would be but a memory and His Kingship only a name.

This is the answer to the false conception of those who accuse the Church of standing between us and Christ. The Church is Christ. It no more stands between Christ and me, than my tongue stands between me and the friend with whom I am conversing, or than my hand stands between me and the child whom I am baptizing.

All such misunderstandings arise from regarding the Church as an organization like a club instead of an organism like a body. It was formed not by men coming together unto Christ as bricks are stacked together to put up a building. It was formed by the life of Christ going out to men and grafting them into Himself. The Church was not formed by the faithful; the faithful were formed by the Church. It did not spring into being at the moment the Word became flesh and dwelt among us.

And so we derive our individual Christian existence from the Church, not vice versa. It creates us spiritually by baptism. The Church begets us, we do not beget the Church. It is our Lord's life and through Him it becomes our life. And just as the written Gospel is the record of His historical life, so the Church is the living Gospel and record of His present life. The life of the Church is the life of the Mystical Christ. It was for this purpose — that His life might permeate the world and be perceived and received by all men in all ages and places — that He assumed this new Body, the Church in which He lives and through which He carries on the work and the being of His Incarnation. In it the Eternal Christ is "the same, yesterday, today, and forever."

Without the Church Christ would today be limited. Were it not for the new Body, where would Christ have tongues with which to preach, lips with which to speak forgiveness to the penitent? How could He draw all souls into the unity of one Lord, one faith, one baptism? Because the Church is His Body, the Upper Room is in our cities and villages as with other hands we lift up to His Father the chalice of His Blood shed for the redemption of many.

Christ is at our very door. If we do not see Him living today in His Mystical Body, then we would not have seen Him living nineteen hundred years ago in His Physical Body. If we do not believe the Mystical Body to be Divine, because it is also so human, then we would not have believed the Physical Body to be Divine, because it was crucified. And if we miss the Lord Jesus, it is not because He is too far away, but because He is too close.

LET US NOW OUR HOMAGE GIVE

Let us raise a joyful song
On this festal day
To mankind our King has come
Let us all be gay

Let us bring our gifts along
Lay them at His feet
Where he rests the beasts among
King and shepherds meet

Let us now our homage give
To our Lord and King
Small enough the life we live
To our God to bring

Let us, too, His mother greet
And Saint Joseph there
Worship then will greater be
By their added prayer

Let us raise a joyful song
On this festal day
To mankind our King has come
Let us all be gay.

Would you like to become a Friend of Saint Mary's? The only requirements are, first, prayer for God's blessing on Saint Mary's and, second, an annual thank offering at the Patronal Feast, December the eighth. If you have said "It is a source of encouragement to me to know that Saint Mary's is always there," here is your chance to encourage that which encourages you.
